GRAND JURY DEMANDS GENERAL MANAGER
TO END COMMISSIONER RULE IN COUNTYJaps Attacking
Only 20 Miles
From Mandalay

CHUNGKING, China, May 1.—(P)—Free China, endangered as never before by a Japanese back-door thrust which has penetrated within 45 miles of her border, sent reinforcements streaming down the Burma Road today in a supreme attempt to stop the Japanese columns ranging through northeastern Burma.

Forging due north from captured, blazing Lashio, where the Mandalay railroad meets the twisting supply route through the mountains, the Japanese reached the vicinity of Hsenwi, 22 miles northeast of Lashio along the Burma Road.

To the west, the Japanese frontal attack on Mandalay had progressed to a point 20 miles south of that city, and fighting was proceeding in the vicinity of Kyaukse.

(New Delhi dispatches said that the Japanese had advanced northwest of Mandalay as well as northeast and that the song-famous city actually was in a salient.)

(The British forces supporting the Chinese on this front withdrew northward to the right bank of the Irrawaddy river west of Mandalay, said a New Delhi communique.)

U. S. Fliers Strike.

(To weaken the Japanese drive at its sea-head, United States fliers under Major Kaiser of the Breretton command in India, struck across the Bay of Bengal at Rangoon, splashing 500-pound bombs on the docks in a night attack Wednesday and dodging both anti-aircraft fire and attacks by Japanese fighters. One Japanese fighter plane was hit.)

The Chinese high command said tonight that the Chinese defenders were holding steadfast in the Hsenwi sector under heavy pressure, and that some of the south-bound reinforcements already had reached Hsenwi from China's Yunnan province.

There appeared no doubt, now, that the Japanese were going all out to reach China's Yunnan border, which is 45 miles east and 55 miles north of Hsenwi.

Threaten Either Way.

(For some time informed opinion has inclined to the belief that the Japanese drive through eastern Burma was aimed at China, rather than in preparation for westward attack on India. At their present location in the Hsenwi area, the Japanese not only are enveloping the actual Burma road but are in a position to menace the new and incomplete India-China route to the north, the 2,300-mile Assam-Sikkim road.)

(Moreover, one Axis report today placed first on a list of possible Japanese moves a drive into China to menace Chungking, the free Chinese Capital, itself.)

Far south of Lashio, isolated Chinese units in the Shan state area of Taunggyi and Loloien still were attacking in an effort to cut the extended Japanese supply lines and, a communique said, were inflicting heavy casualties.

Despite the fall of Lashio, a spokesman insisted that China's air services were continuing without hitch via a previously arranged stopping place.

Communications Difficult.

The British New Delhi communique dealt only with the movements of Major General Harold Alexander's British and Indian troops in the Mandalay-Irrawaddy area, and there was definite indication of difficulty in communications with the Chinese on the east.

Mandalay is on the left bank of the Irrawaddy. The river flows generally from north to south the length of Burma, but makes a big bend to the west at Mandalay.

A British communique said the withdrawal across the river proceeds successfully and that a small Japanese party raided Monywa, on the right side of the river 55 miles west of Mandalay, but was being "successfully" dealt with.

The retreating troops blew up a bridge across an Irrawaddy tributary at Kyaukse.

BETTER THAN A LOLLIPOP—Little Pat Crankshaw mopped floors, swept the driveway and washed dishes for cash on the barrel-head to buy a defense bond. It took her four months of penny-wise saving. Here the 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Crankshaw, 1159 Ewing place, S. W., is putting the finishing touches on the last stamp for her bond. She has four uncles in service and she really keeps up with the war.

Pennsylvania
Explosion Kills
Eight Women

McKEESPORT, Pa., May 1.—(P)—Eight women were blasted to death today and 10 others were injured in an explosion which gutted the mixing plant of the Central Railways Signal Company in adjoining Versailles borough.

A mixture of potash and sulphur, which the women in the steel and concrete, one-story building were making into torpedoes for railroad signal work, let go at 2:37 p. m.

Two-thirds of the 80-foot-long roof were blown out along with all of the windows. Parts of bodies were scattered, some landing on the tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, adjoining.

Five of the badly mutilated bodies were taken to the Allegheny county morgue in Pittsburgh. Two died after being taken to the McKeesport hospital.

A sixth victim, Elizabeth Slaney, 19, a recent graduate of McKeesport High school, was identified by her father, Frank Slaney, superintendent of the plant.

Bertha Kosuth, 36, and Anna Rosak, 30, both of Versailles, succumbed in the hospital of "shock and complete burns over the entire bodies."

One of the bodies at the morgue was identified tentatively by her spectacles as Helen Bodnar.

Gust Bassler, 50, a railroad brakeman, ran 100 feet to be first to enter the building after the explosion.

"It was terrifying," Bassler said. "Girls were running about screaming, blood gushing from wounds in their legs and arms."

"A pall of big, black smoke hung in and above the building. I ran inside and helped out one girl who couldn't walk."

Bassler said he seized a fire extinguisher and with Howard B. McKee, a volunteer fireman of McKeesport, put out a small blaze which broke out.

Building Inspector
Indicted on Charge
Of Embezzlement

By DUPONT WRIGHT.

Modernization of the Fulton county government by the employment of a general manager, to be chosen by a part-time board of commissioners not eligible for re-election, was demanded yesterday by the March-April Fulton county grand jury in presentments.

The jurors, charged with the annual investigation of county affairs, also indicted Building Inspector Frank B. Eaves on an embezzlement charge.

The jury recommended the part-time commissioners have legislative functions only. (Changes in state laws would be necessary to put the grand jury recommendations into effect.)

Called Wasteful.

"We find," said the grand jury, "the government under which we are living unco-ordinated as regards state, county, and city, wasteful in its duplication of operations, and, in our opinion, with the wrong emphasis placed on the spending of tax money."

"Despite these handicaps we find certain departments operating commendably. The fault we believe lies in the lack of interest of the voters of this county who have not elected for themselves officials who have always placed their service to the public ahead of their own political aims and aspirations."

Faults Listed.

"We find," the presentments continued, "enormous expenditures for parks, while Battle Hill sanatorium has been allowed to reach a deplorable state of neglect. Health and public welfare neglected to a dangerous extent while funds were appropriated to buy opera chairs. We find hardened criminals paroled and pardoned again and again to further prey upon the public. Pawn brokers' establishments, in many cases, undoubtedly furnishing a market for stolen goods which are improperly regulated."

The indictment of Eaves shocked courthouse employees. He has been with the county for 30 years, first as engineer and later as building inspector. He receives $410 per month and is appointed

94 Per Cent
Excess Profits
Tax Favored

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(P)—A new corporation tax program built around a flat levy taking $94 out of every $100 of excess profits—those exceeding normal—and estimated to raise $2,500,000,000 in additional revenue was approved today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Reaching tentative agreements on principal corporate taxes, the committee also decided to retain the present 24 per cent tax on normal profits of corporations with net income of more than $25,000 and jumped the present 7 per cent surtax to 16 per cent. This latter levy applies, in addition to the 24 per cent tax, on normal profits exceeding $25,000.

Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, announced that the committee would discuss Monday suggestions that the government war sum part of the taxes collected under wartime rates.

Tax Adviser.

Randolph Paul, tax adviser to Secretary Morgenthau, and Representative Cooper, Democrat, Tennessee, estimated that the combined new program would produce $2,500,000,000, though some of Paul's figures indicated it might go as high as $2,604,700,000. The 94 per cent tax, double existing rates in many cases, was designed, members said, both to raise new revenue and to control profits of corporations enjoying lucrative war contracts.

It applies to all profits a corporation may have in excess of $10,000 plus:

1. Ninety-five per cent of its average net earnings in the period 1936-39, inclusive, or

2. A return of 8 per cent on the first $5,000,000 of invested capital; 7 per cent on the second $5,000,000; 6 per cent on the next $10,000,000, and 5 per cent above $20,000,000.

A corporation may choose either method of figuring what are "normal" profits, with the remainder being subject to the excess tax. Under present law, excess profits are subject to a tax ranging from 35 per cent on the first $20,000 to 60 per cent on all over $500,000.

"Normal" Profits.

The "normal" profits in the case of a corporation with over $25,000 net income, are subject to the 24 per cent normal tax and surtaxes.

The formula for figuring excess profits by the invested capital method represents a revision of the present law under current law a corporation may figure its normal profits a return of 8 per cent on the first $5,000,000 of capital and of 7 per cent on capital above $5,000,000.

At the other end of the scale, the committee decided to double the present $5,000 tax exemption to which all corporations are entitled.

Here are examples of how the committee-approved excess profits tax might affect two corporations: A company with $1,000,000 profits this year and $700,000 credit on the basis of average earnings in the 1936-39 period would pay $142,250 under the present law and $272,600 under the committee's proposal.

A corporation capitalized at $15,000,000 which had $2,000,000 net income would pay $491,000 under present law, but $883,600 under the recommendation.

'If I Should Die . . .'
At Least Print Fact

CHICAGO, May 1.—(INS)—One of the great human documents to come out of the war, a letter written by an American soldier in Australia, blasting the delay in issuance of casualty lists, was made public by the Public Relations Department of the Ninth Naval District tonight.

The soldier's identity was not revealed. He wrote:

"What kind of a country is it that will send a man out to die for it, yet when he has had his guts blasted out, the simple fact that he died for his country is such unpleasant news that it must not be published back home for fear of 'undermining the morale' of the home folks?"

"I'm just another one of these guys who's got a $21-a-month job with Uncle Sam. I spend my time learning how to kill Japs and Germans. It's my job."

"I'm doing the best I can, and I don't have much time to think. But I'll be . . . if I can figure out what the government means when it announces that casualty lists can't be published because they are 'depressing.'"

"Maybe I'm wrong, but it seems to me that when a guy has done his best and died in some jungle or desert trying to save decency

Bell Traffic
Plan Is Sent To Washington

Plans for providing 12 traffic lanes to the Bell bomber plant by next January or February at a cost of about $1,500,000 were approved yesterday and will be sent to Washington immediately for approval of the Public Roads Administration.

The new facilities to be provided by erecting underpasses, overpasses, strengthening existing bridges and improving existing highways and constructing others will handle three shifts of 14,000 workmen each, according to engineers who met at the city hall and gave their unanimous approval to the program.

Representatives of the district public roads administration, city and Fulton county planning commissions, commissioners of Fulton and Cobb counties, city and county engineers, the Army and the Bell organization gave their sanction to the proposals, and decided to submit them to the Atlanta city council Monday and to the Fulton county commission next Wednesday for approval of those bodies.

In the meantime, Charles D. Snead, district engineer of the Public Roads Administration, will go to Washington, and urge early approval there so that work can be begun at the earliest possible moment.

Major undertakings in connection with the program are:

1. Construction of a new highway.

Georgia-Made Tires
Stand Bitter Tests

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

Rolling, grinding, skidding across the hot sands of Death Valley, a new type of automobile tire designed and manufactured in Georgia has withstood every bitter test a tire could take to prove worthy of its purpose—the conservation of the nation's fast-dwindling rubber supply.

The use of this new Georgia-designed tire, the engineers say, will mean a saving of rubber for Uncle Sam's war machine that would exceed the equivalent of several million tires a year, enough to equip more than a million army trucks or field guns.

The tough carcass of this tire will permit several recaps with further large savings of rubber. But most significant to Georgia is that the adoption of this natural solution to one of the nation's gravest problems will mean a new market for cotton—for a new discovery in the chemistry of cotton textile production has produced this miracle of the national rubber crisis.

The tested tires—those that have withstood the strain of the heated sands of Death Valley—have been produced in the plant of the Bibb Manufacturing Company at Macon, Ga.

The tires and the proofs of their worthiness are now in the hands of the federal government laboratory engineers in Washington.

The federal government has been shown that the new principle of constructing cotton fiber cords will produce tires with less rubber, tires that will last longer. William D. Anderson, president of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, visiting Atlanta for the two-day convention at the Biltmore hotel of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, told of the creation, designing and production of the new tire that will make the nation's 700,000 tons of rubber last twice as long—two years instead of one.

"For a bit more than three years before Pearl Harbor," said Anderson, "rayon was promoted heavily as a substitute for cotton in tire fabric. How this was done, I don't know, as the tensile strength of cotton fiber is even superior to that of steel. There was only one weakness in cotton cord, and that was its tendency to slip apart under pressure at the woven ends. We have corrected that in our Bibb Heat-Resistant Cord, a product we have been working on night and day."

"Dear Buddy,"

In tomorrow morning's Constitution, you'll find a letter about everything that's happened in Atlanta and Georgia during the last week and The Constitution's staff gets together to see that it's the sort of stuff that will interest a Georgia boy away from home.

Everyone knows—or ought to know—how much a letter from home means to the soldier, in camp or on any of the far-flung battle lines.

"Dear Buddy" fills the bill. Watch for it in Sunday's Atlanta Constitution.

Jesse Draper
To Leave for
Post in Brazil

Commander Jesse Draper, for many years active in local real estate circles and as a reserve officer of the U. S. Navy, and for the past year Naval liaison officer at state selective service headquarters, yesterday was ordered to the state of Rio Grande do Sul, in Brazil, where he will be executive officer of a United States Naval base.

Commander Draper will leave Atlanta May 16 for Washington, and after a few days there he will depart for his new station.

In Brazil Commander Draper will be the base executive officer under command of Captain Walter G. Roper, a former Atlantian, who is already en route to Brazil.

Captain Roper, who retired from the Navy several years ago, was widely known here, having at one time been in charge of the Naval recruiting station here. While in Atlanta he pioneered in the bus transportation business, establishing several bus lines which are now a part of the Greyhound system.

Since his retirement from the Navy Captain Roper has been residing on Long Island. Captain Roper was recalled to active naval service about three months ago.

Commander Draper, who is chairman of the board of the real estate firm of Draper-Owens Company, first became interested in the Navy in 1917, when commissioned as a lieutenant, J. G. During the first World War he served in Washington, London, Plymouth, Brest and later in Paris as assistant Naval attaché.

Following the war Commander Draper kept up his reserve status and was called back in service about a year ago.

Reds Declare

KUIBYSHEV, U. S. S. R., May 1.—(P)—The guns, the bombs and the bayonets of the Red army have punctured beyond repair Adolf Hitler's vaunted spring offensive plans, the Russians declared on this May Day in announcing an imposing list of new Soviet victories by land and sea to bear them out.

To the nation's workers and fighters Joseph Stalin broadcast a message of confidence, the army newspaper Red Star praised the armed forces for "converting into a fable" Hitler's early offensive preparations and the Moscow radio announced these victories for Soviet arms.

The sinking of a German battleship—the first claimed thus far by the Russians—by the Red Navy's Baltic fleet.

A total of 58,000 Germans killed or wounded and 248 enemy planes destroyed in April on the Leningrad front alone.

The Moscow communique tonight reported a 9,000-ton German transport had been sunk in the Barents Sea and listed 38 Nazi aircraft destroyed yesterday against nine Soviet losses.

In a resume of the Baltic fleet's operations—presumably since the war's start—the radio announcement listed 447 German ships destroyed, including the battleship, a cruiser, 16 destroyers, 18 submarines, 18 torpedo boats and 114 transports.

The name of the battleship reported sunk or the date of its destruction.

Cotton Men Urge Sacrifices by All To Halt Inflation

By AL SHARP.
A general sales tax, suspension of the 40-hour week, sacrifices by all to prevent inflation, assurance of a profit margin and more confidence between labor and management—these were the predominating demands of speakers here yesterday at the convention of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

Farmer Enjoys Largest Income Since Last War

Shortage of Labor Developing in South, Bank Review Says.

The farmer in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi or in Tennessee is enjoying his greatest degree of prosperity since the first World War.

This is the conclusion published yesterday in the monthly review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta for April as it reported an expanding market for farm products from the five states comprising the sixth federal reserve district.

The only serious threat to agricultural prosperity in the district exists, according to the review, in the shortage of farm labor that "is now developing."

Besides the demand for southern farm products in armament industries, the review says, increased incomes have made possible larger purchases of food and textile goods by the consuming public.

Additional impetus has been given the general wave of farm prosperity by the increased demand for food under lease-lend aid to Great Britain and to some extent to Soviet Russia, the review adds.

Corn is judged the most important crop of the region, with 15.27 million acres under cultivation last year, and cotton, long king of southern agriculture, in second place with 7.75 million acres harvested.

Hay ranks third in sixth district crops, then come peanuts, soy beans, oats, wheat, rice, sweet potatoes, sugar cane, white potatoes, tobacco and sorghum in that order. Most striking change in farm production plans due to the loss of far-eastern areas to Japan will be in peanut planting, the review predicts. Peanut production, it adds, should increase 65 per cent.

Crushed peanuts will serve as substitute for eastern vegetable oils.

New industrial uses for agricultural crops that will widen farm opportunities are listed as Florida citrus pulp alcohol, alcohol from "sorgo," made from cane or sweet sorghum; starch from sweet potatoes, plastics from camphor and textile sizing from Louisiana tung nuts.

Business conditions in the five southern states has continued to improve under stimulus of various phases of the war program. March showed considerable gain over February and over March a year ago, the review reports.

Floyd Cancer Fund

Is Oversubscribed

ATHENS, Ga., May 1.—(P)—Mrs. E. P. Grant, of Rome, Floyd county captain of the Women's Field Army for Control of Cancer, today reported to Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, Georgia and deputy national commander, that county has oversubscribed its quota by more than $300 in the sixth annual educational and membership campaign now in progress.

Mrs. Ritchie said that Floyd county's quota was $500 and that Mrs. Grant said one large industrial plant is still to report. The state commander, pointing out that all counties already reported have surpassed their quotas, said indications are Georgia will probably make the best showing it has ever done in the annual campaign against the disease which annually takes 158,000 lives in the United States.

Counties previously reporting their quotas oversubscribed were Greene, Stephens, Polk, Evans.

Warns of Inflation.

William P. Witherow, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, emphasized the dangers of inflation in his speech, pointing out that some form of wage freezing is necessary and that "excessive purchasing power already accumulated in the lower income brackets must be siphoned off through taxation."

The answer to that (inflation) "seems simple to me," Witherow declared. "The only way to siphon off excessive purchasing power is at the place where that excess is being added."

"It may not be good politics—perhaps not very good sociology—but mathematics prove that new revenue in large amounts must be taken through sales taxes or higher levies on incomes of the great masses of our people," he continued.

Industry Willing.
"If industry was reluctant to assume its share of sacrifices, it would not behoove us to suggest any part others should bear. But industry has taken a heavy burden and asked for more."

Witherow paid tribute to "the 2,000,000 cotton farmers, mostly in the south, who are growing the cotton that spells victory. He pointed out that "labor and management need a little more confidence and trust in each other and should develop it, instead of spending so much time maneuvering for a favorable public position."

"Modern Miracle."
He called conversion of factories from peacetime to wartime manufacture "a modern miracle," and pointed to the adage that "an army moves on its stomach" as outmoded. An army moves on cotton, he said, citing the cotton in tires and other products for the mobile forces.

Profits in wartime should be of a legitimate and fair nature, he said, adding that "I don't believe in a fight or finance war on a production for use basis." He said profiteering should be out, citing the fact that renegotiation of contracts had been arranged when unreasonable profits appeared.

48-Hour Week.
Suspension of the 40-hour week and adoption of a basic 48-hour week was a prime objective of W. N. Banks, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

"It is high time," Banks said, "for America to wake up to the peril that confronts her. France awoke too late. She insisted on retaining all social gains, working short hours at high wages and producing 'too little, too late.' She now sees the result of her folly. The same fate awaits America unless we put our house in order—and quickly."

Scores Congress.
Banks said "the exasperatingly dilatory tactics on the part of congress and administration officials toward these important matters (48-hour week and strikes) were a contributing factor in the overwhelming defeat we have suffered on all battle fronts."

A margin of profit for manufacturers should be assured, he said, because "without profits, there are no taxes."

He predicted that the manufacturing cost for the war would increase, because there is no ceiling on wages. This will necessitate an upward revision in ceiling prices, he said; "otherwise we will be confronted with diminished profits and less taxes to prosecute the war."

Must Make Profits.
"This war cannot be financed and carried on successfully," he added, "unless industry is allowed to make reasonable profits and pay large taxes."

Normal taxes should be supplemented by a sales tax, which is "the fairest of all taxes," he declared. "It taxes us in accordance with our ability to purchase and consume, and gives fair and equitable treatment to all citizens." Banks said no one dreamed the cotton industry could expand so enormously, citing the fact that mills should consume 12,000,000 bales this year as compared with normal consumption of between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000. He predicted consumption of 15,000,000 bales annually after the war.

Editor Speaks.
John F. Chapman, foreign editor of Business Week Magazine, pointed out the United Nations' hold on strategic raw materials has been "desperately weakened." The economic expert said the real crisis is still ahead.

"We need to make the most of what we have now," he stated. The convention will continue through today, with an address by Dr. C. T. Murchison, president of the Cotton-Textile Institute, Inc., as the feature of the program.

Dr. Pierce Harris, pastor of the First Methodist church, spoke to the visitors at the banquet last night at the Athletic Club.

Jap Air Fields In New Guinea Heavily Raided

Absence of Air Opposition Indicated in Latest Assaults.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 1.—(P)—Allied airmen swept down on an enemy airfield at Lae in New Guinea yesterday, bombed and machine-gunned thirty planes lined up on the ground in a surprise attack and roared off after starting numerous large fires, a communique announced today.

In another raid on Salamaua, 20 miles to the south, other Allied bombers shot down three Japanese defending planes and then unloaded their explosives on ground installations.

Allied losses were described as slight in the communique from General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters. It mentioned no opposition by the Japanese at Lae, indicating the raiders found the Japanese unprepared, despite almost daily Allied raids on the area.

Eight Japanese bombers raided Horn Island, off Cape York, at the northeast tip of Australia, with little damage, while another Japanese formation raided Tulagi, in the Solomon island, "without effect," the communique said.

Corridor Attacked.

On the Philippine sector, three Japanese planes were shot down in a renewal of the attack on Corregidor by air and land forces and two others were damaged. There were twelve aerial raids, accompanied by heavy shelling. The defenders fire hit Japanese batteries, truck columns and supply dumps, the communique said.

A warning of the Japanese menace to Allied outposts was sounded by General Sir Thomas Blamey, land commander under General MacArthur. He reported increasing Japanese activity in the islands above Australia, but observed that the Allies were building up their forces and "are now in a much better position than we ever have been to meet the Japanese."

"Increased enemy activity means he has some further plan," General Blamey said. "I am not going to forecast it. . . . Seizure of either Darwin or Port Moresby would not be vital to either side at the moment but would be strategically important to either side to hold these places as a jumping-off point."

Allied Power Growing.
The Allies shortly would be so strong in Australia that "it will take a very big expedition to make any impression on this continent," Blamey said.

Japan's immediate hope, he continued, is to complete the encirclement of China, and added that "it is not yet clear whether completion of this objective would leave the Japanese free to move in other directions."

"Our land forces," he said, "are determined to carry the war to the enemy's territory as soon as possible, but not until we are ready and convinced of our capacity to carry it out successfully."

Advocacy of a second front is wrongly based at present, Allied leaders are determined to establish such a front when we are certain it will not be wasted and that we will be able to make a good job of it."

He said the support Australia has been getting from the United States is far from "token backing."

Manager for County Urged

Moore, Clark Howell and W. E. Tallafiero, were reappointed for another term.

The grand jury scored the county commissioners for buying chairs for the North Fulton park amphitheater "when there is such a crying need for funds for other parks that are wholly neglected." Examples of neglect, the jury cited Bolton and Dixie Lake parks.

In its report on Adams park, the jury said:

"The county has in excess of a half million dollars in these properties, with a gross income last year of less than $6,000. The swimming pool is not sufficiently large to take care of its patrons, and still the county commissioners saw fit to spend thousands of dollars in building additional stables and at the same time rented the stables out for $25 less than they did in 1941. In other words, the stables were rented for $325 per year and for $300 in 1942." The board found that privately owned horses are boarded at Adams and North Fulton parks.

No Taxes Paid.

The grand jury reported that a majority of the concessions in Lakewood park are private enterprises which have "never paid a cent of taxes. The only taxes that have ever been collected so far as the records indicate were paid by the Southeastern Fair Association in the amount of $16.37 for taxes on a show that wintered there last year."

The jury added: "We find that the concessions in the various parks are let, not to the highest bidder, but to the best friend, for the simple reason they never advertise for bids."

Returning to the subject of the North Fulton park amphitheater, for which the commissioners recently ordered $26,000 worth of chairs, the grand jury report said: "It is interesting to learn that there is now being considered a contract which will be with, we understand, a man living outside Georgia, operating similar projects in Jacksonville, St. Louis and Louisville, Ky., who wishes to complete his chain and eliminate the long loop between Jacksonville and Louisville."

Although commending the Fulton county police department, the grand jury nevertheless recommends that steps be taken to pro-

MARINES ON PARADE—This is "Marine Corps Appreciation Week" by proclamation of the mayor and Governor, and in celebration of the fact, Atlanta marines staged a parade through the downtown section yesterday afternoon. This week marines are attempting to recruit an all-Georgia company. The procession included five bands, personnel of the Atlanta Marine office, and representatives of various patriotic and military organizations in Atlanta. Officials reviewed the parade at the Capital City Club.

Rickenbacker Lauds Training Of Air Forces

But People Show Indifference, Complacency, Greed, He Says.

TAMPA, Fla., May 1.—(P)—Captain Eddie V. Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Air Lines, told his board of directors at a monthly meeting here today the U. S. Army air forces were receiving "the best training in the world" but added the United States civilian attitude toward the war left much to be desired.

He spoke, he said, on the observations of a recent 15,000-mile tour of air training bases.

"Our combat pilots are being trained in the finest planes America can produce," he reported. "By comparison with our pilots of 1917-18 they are veterans before they leave the United States. I had a total of 35 flying hours when I went to the front in 1918. Today, the combat pilot has from 350 to 500 hours of training. Moreover, these men have the finest pursuit planes and bombers in the world."

But, said Rickenbacker, he found on his swing around the nation evidence of "indifference, complacency and greed."

He declared that "many Americans still have no conception of the serious problems facing us, and that holds true for many of our leaders. Many people are trying to win the war in their spare time. Others have the attitude of 'we'll sit this out.'"

Monthly meetings of Eastern Air Lines' directors are held in various cities served by the company.

Probe Ordered Of Shooting at Prison Camp

Convict Killed by Guard at Hortense During Fight.

A complete investigation of a shooting last Saturday night at the Hortense convict camp in Brantley county in which a prisoner was killed by a guard, and of conditions in the camp was ordered by Royal K. Mann, chairman of the State Prison and Parole Commission.

Camp Warden Dan L. Johnson notified the commission yesterday that Guard W. T. Smith shot and killed Pete Thames, Columbus taxi driver serving a one-to-three-year sentence for assault.

In his report the warden said that Thames and another prisoner were fighting and refused to stop when ordered to do so by Smith. The guard shot once in a futile effort to halt the fight, Johnson said, and then hit Thames with a second shot.

Guard Smith was suspended yesterday by Mann pending a complete investigation of the shooting. Mann said W. D. Burch, a parole officer for the commission, reported yesterday afternoon after a preliminary investigation that conditions at the camp "are in a bad mess."

Tobacco Inspection Vote Is Set in South

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(P)—All growers who sold tobacco at auction last year on 49 flue-cured markets in Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida will vote this month on whether the markets should be designated for free and mandatory inspection.

The Agriculture Department said yesterday that the referendum would be held from May 25 through May 28. If two-thirds of those voting approve, the markets will receive the inspection service.

Among the markets covered by the referendum are Conway, Mullins and Kingtree in South Carolina; Baxley, Blackshear, Hazlehurst, Moultrie, Pelham, Tifton, Vidalia and Waycross in Georgia; and Lake City in Florida.

The report urged that a city ordinance be passed requiring the thumb-printing of all persons pawning or selling merchandise.

The jury advised against raising the 2 1/2 mill rate for public welfare at this time, but concurred in the recommendation of the former grand jury with the reference to the $50,000 additional for relief made available by the county commissioners, but requested that it be used for relief only.

More criticism of the county commissioners is found in a paragraph in the report devoted to the paving of Chatham road by the WPA.

One illustration, said the grand jury, "by the county engineer that this was one of a group of projects recommended by the county commissioners. The distance paved was one half mile, at a cost of $36,129.52, and was classified as a connecting link. However, we are of the opinion that this paving was for the purpose of real estate development and private interest will profit more than any general public benefit. This is a specific illustration of similar cases that exist."

Conduct of the offices of the sheriff, the solicitor general, the tax collector and the tax assessors was commended.

In conclusion, the grand jury recommended that the present homestead exemption be kept at $2,000. "It is the opinion of this body," said the report, "that if the same diligence and careful planning were given the expenditures of the present income tax employed in the constant probing for new methods of tax increases and unnecessary appropriations and purchases, the present income and tax rate would be sufficient."

Schenck Is Given Sentence of Year

NEW YORK, May 1.—(P)—Joseph M. Schenck, former chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film Corporation, was sentenced today to a year and a day in prison on a plea of guilty to perjury immediately after federal court suspended a previous three-year sentence for income tax evasion.

The court accepted the lesser plea and ordered the suspension of the three-year sentence after the government said that Schenck had aided the prosecution of Willie Bioff, west coast labor leader, and George E. Browne, former president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, who were convicted of extortion from major movie producers.

Medical School Discredit Act To Be Studied

Dr. W. A. Selman Named President-Elect at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Ga., May 1.—(P)—Action of the discrediting of the University of Georgia Medical School was still pending today at the conclusion of the Medical Association of Georgia's 1942 convention.

The question was referred to a committee with instructions to seek the best answer after opposite groups had expressed desires for emphatic stands on the subject.

The Georgia Medical School was removed from the approved list of the American Medical Association for what was described as political control of higher education in Georgia recently.

Dr. W. A. Selman, of Atlanta, was named president-elect for next year, and Dr. J. A. Redfearn, new president, assumed office at the close of the meeting.

Other officers are Dr. S. J. Lewis, of Augusta, first vice president; Dr. Cleveland Thompson, of Metter, second vice president, and Dr. Edgar D. Shanks, of Atlanta, retained as secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Will Mulherin, of Augusta, and Dr. Allen Hamilton Bunce, retiring president from Atlanta, will represent Georgia as delegates to the A. M. A. convention.

Last night at the annual banquet, Dr. Thomas Franklin Abercrombie, director of the State Department of Public Health, received the L. G. Hardman loving cup for distinguished medical service.

Dr. William R. Dancy, of Savannah, in presenting the cup, reviewed Abercrombie's career as public health director since 1917. Some of his contributions, Dancy said, were the first anti-malarial campaign, a system of vital statistics, the first anti-venereal campaign in Georgia, extensive rabies treatment and control of tuberculosis.

Mrs. Bruce Schaefer, of Toccoa, is the new president-elect of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Medical Association of Georgia.

She was elected at the concluding session of the annual convention of that body yesterday.

Mrs. J. Long King, of Macon, who was chosen as president-elect in 1941, went into office as president.

Other officers: Mrs. H. M. Kandel, of Savannah, first vice president; Mrs. W. G. Elliott, of Cuthbert, second vice president; Mrs. Ralph Fowler, of Marietta, third vice president; Mrs. Wallace Bazemore, of Macon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. S. T. R. Revell, of Louisville, parliamentarian, and Mrs. J. R. McMichael, of Quitman, historian.

Mrs. Lucius N. Todd, of Augusta, was chosen treasurer for the ensuing year. Mrs. J. C. Metts, of Savannah, was re-elected recording secretary.

The auxiliary will meet in Atlanta next year.

Abercrombie Gets Hardman Award

Dr. Thomas Franklin Abercrombie, of Atlanta, director of the State Department of Public Health, was awarded the L. G. Hardman loving cup for distinguished medical service at the annual banquet of the Medical Association of Georgia.

The presentation was made by Dr. William R. Dancy, of Savannah, who reviewed the contributions Dr. Abercrombie has made to health throughout the state since he became head of the public health department in 1917.

Among these were the first anti-malarial campaign, a system of vital statistics, the first anti-venereal campaign in Georgia, extensive rabies treatment, and control of tuberculosis.

The perpetual award was given by the late L. G. Hardman, only Georgia physician to serve as governor of the state.

Vargas Suffers Cuts as Autos Collide in Rio

Brazilian President Confined to Bed After Hospital Attention.

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 1.—(P)—President Getulio Vargas suffered cuts which required hospital attention in an automobile accident today while en route from nearby Petropolis to Guanabara palace here.

The chief executive was taken to the palace and treated by Dr. Carlos Tinoco, a hospital surgeon. An official announcement said Vargas' automobile was in collision with another on a suburban street. It added that his injuries would make it necessary for him to remain in bed, but did not indicate how long.

A medical bulletin said Vargas suffered a bad contusion on his right thigh but that there was no sign of a fracture and that his condition "is entirely satisfactory."

Vargas, 59 years old April 19, has governed Brazil under varying conditions since his leadership of the revolution of 1930, which placed him in power at the head of a provisional government.

This regime lasted to 1934, marked by extensive reforms, and upon the promulgation of a federal constitution in 1934 he was elected as constitutional president for the term 1934-38.

On November 10, 1937, Vargas, supported by the army, navy and the mass of public opinion, revoked the constitution of 1934 and supplanted it with another indefinitely extending "the mandate of the present president of the republic." This has given Brazil virtually one-man government.

Roosevelt Asks More Cash for Farm Families

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(P)—President Roosevelt today asked congress to increase from $125,000,000 to $245,000,000 the sum proposed to be made available to low-income farmers for stepping up production under the "Food for Freedom" program.

The money would go to farmers in the form of loans and grants by the Farm Security Administration, and would be appropriated in the Agriculture Department supply bill pending now before a senate appropriations subcommittee.

As passed by the house, the measure now provides a direct appropriation of $50,319,557 to the FSA for granting financial assistance, guidance and supervision to low-income farmers. It also authorizes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to advance $75,000,000 to the FSA for the same purpose.

Under the President's request, the direct appropriation to the agency would be increased by $14,778,000, and the amount the RFC would advance would be increased by $105,500,000.

Accompanying the President's request, which was sent to the senate, was a letter he had received from the Budget Bureau. The letter, which the President indorsed, contained this statement: "In order to meet our food requirements and those of our Allies, it is clearly apparent that every effort must be made to increase our production of agricultural commodities to the fullest possible extent."

Kermit in Institution

HARTFORD, Conn., May 1.—(P)—Kermit Roosevelt, 52-year-old son of the late President Theodore Roosevelt, has entered the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute of the Hartford Retreat for a four-month course of treatment under a voluntary agreement reached in probate court here.

The former explorer and shipping president entered the institute yesterday after a partial hearing before Probate Judge Russell Z. Johnston during which his brother, Archibald B. Roosevelt, of Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., sought to have him committed for a year.

Roosevelt joined the British army at the beginning of the war, but resigned his commission as a major about a year ago.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 2, 1942.

Co-operation

The co-operation freely given by Atlantans to the War Bond campaign is an inspiring example of the single purpose of every American—the winning of the war.

From all ranks of life Atlantans have wholeheartedly joined in the work of putting across to all citizens the message of the campaign.

The problem of obtaining the necessary personnel for the canvass at first appeared insurmountable. Then the Atlanta and Fulton county Civilian Defense organizations offered the services of their 30,000 men and women.

The task of teaching these workers the goal of the canvass then was undertaken by 100 young Atlantans who formed a War Bond Speakers' Bureau to address the volunteer canvassers, civic clubs and other groups interested in the teamwork necessary to put the campaign over the top.

The Red Cross Motor Corps undertook the difficult job of distributing materials for the workers, delivering them throughout the county quickly and efficiently.

The Civilian Defense Volunteer Office assumed responsibility for the "Buy a Bomber" ball, featuring Dorothy Lamour at the Municipal auditorium with the musicians' union furnishing all necessary musicians and the stagehands' union supplying all personnel needed in their part of the united effort.

In DeKalb county, the American Women's Voluntary Services was enlisted to conduct the campaign in that county and the organization is now hard at work perfecting plans for their canvass.

Retail merchants of Atlanta grouped together to prepare window displays, in which the Army co-operated in providing necessary material.

The Georgia Power Company offered street car placard space.

And not the least-inspired member of the campaign organization is one of the more unfortunate residents of our community. He is, sadly, rather too adept with a pen, a fact that led him to the Atlanta federal penitentiary to serve a term for counterfeiting. His contribution is the street car card now doing its part in bringing the message of the campaign to Atlanta.

In still other instances, members of many organizations are reporting to district air raid wardens to fill in wherever needed during the canvass.

This is co-operation that can't be bought. It can't be coerced. It is the free expression of free people in the cause of the country.

When we have such examples of wholehearted co-operation, we need not fear for the future of the country nor need we worry about how the cost of war will be paid. The people have answered.

The Marines!

When the landing parties swing shoreward off Japan it is a safe bet the United States Marines will be in the landing boats.

The public hears little of the Marines today. They spread their page of history early in the war. Now they're grimly waiting—getting ready with the toughest fighting men the world knows waiting the word.

On the ships of the fleet they stand guard, manning the guns. At fleet bases they wait their day to take to Japan the interest they intend to pay for Wake Island. At the training bases, the raw kids come in to run through the grueling training that turns them into United States Marines, ready with the know-how to fight at the drop of a hat, or a pin.

And so we may recall, this week, what the Marines mean to the nation as Atlanta pays them tribute. It is a tribute to men who simply asked, "send us some more Japs." Those men, felt, but there are thousands in their place, waiting for the day when they'll be sent for some more Japs.

Their uniform is assurance that the Japs, too, will remember Wake Island a thousand years.

The Marines in Iceland wear a polar bear insignia on their sleeves. Every other Marine should wear an insignia in the shape of Wake Island, a tacit pledge that lives in the heart of every Marine but which should be recalled to every American when he sees the uniform of the sea soldiers.

Bishop of Atlanta

It is rarely that an Episcopal divine is elected to the bishopric in the diocese where he has ministered as rector and in which he was born. Thus the election of Dr. John M. Walker as bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Atlanta brings peculiar honor to him and special gratification to his innumerable friends here.

As rector of St. Luke's church for more than 10 years, Dr. Walker has won a degree of respect, admiration and affection among Atlantans of all church affiliations, as well as his own congregation. He is a man of scholarly attainments and brilliant culture, yet is possessed of that simplicity of soul which is the hallmark of true Christians everywhere.

Born in Macon, educated at the University of Georgia, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, the scholastic fraternity, and at the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., Dr. Walker is Georgia born and Georgia educated. He has served as general missionary for the diocese of Georgia, as pastor of St. Paul's at Albany and of St. Peter's at Charlotte, N. C.

By his election he becomes the third bishop of the diocese of Atlanta since it was formed in 1892.

All Atlanta joins today in congratulations to Dr. Walker and rejoices that the Episcopalians saw fit to give to this diocese a prelate so closely associated with its spiritual life and its people.

Italian Peace Rumors

It is probable stories and rumors coming out of Italy are but part and parcel of the Axis peace offensive.

But there are known facts which give them a measure of value which should be examined, both pro and con, with more than ordinary care.

The intelligence services of Great Britain and the United States undoubtedly have greater information than is available to others and it is upon this information that the countries involved must act.

Suspicion is aroused by the pattern of the information coming out of Italy. First we hear Mussolini has suffered a breakdown. Then comes the rumor King Victor Emmanuel has dismissed Mussolini and Count Ciano and called upon Marshal Badoglio to head a new cabinet. This is followed by reports of famine, given credence in the name of Mussolini himself. To this extent, it follows the Axis pattern.

Other factors, however, bring Italy's defection into the realm of possibility. It is known the Italian people have had little stomach for the war. It is known the food problem has been serious. It is known there has been rioting in more than one city. It is known panic has followed British bombing raids. These things we know. They make a separate peace possible, if not probable.

But the known factor of German penetration lends support to those who believe the Italian rumors are nothing more than a part of the current Axis peace offensive. Even though Italy wished to get out of the war, it is evident Germany then would impose an even more choking vassalage upon the nation.

Georgia Editors Say:
TAKE THE LOAD OFF HIS HEART

The United States has a big job on its hands. Not only must it ward off invasion of its shores by enemy forces, but it must also transport men and supplies through war-infested waters to the place where they are most needed in the fight for democracy. In spite of all the dangers connected with such a large order, our fighting forces aloft accepted the job willingly and we may rest assured it will be "well done."

We also have a duty to perform—a duty to these brave men who have left their homes to protect us and our homes. We must guarantee the welfare of their loved ones left behind. For over 40 years the Navy Relief Society has taken care of the needy families of Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard.

For the first time in its history, the Navy Relief Society is appealing to the public for funds to help carry on this important work. In Barrow county the campaign for money for the "Community Chest of the Navy" is being conducted this week. Your contribution may feed and clothe the family of a sailor; at any rate, it will give the Navy men away from home the assurance that we are looking after his family at home. In doing this we take the load off his heart.

THE WORLD TODAY

By JAY G. HAYDEN.

HOTTEST OF POTATOES WASHINGTON, May 1.—President Roosevelt has placed many hot political potatoes on the congressional docket, but none more so than the assertion in his anti-inflation message that no American should be left with a net income of more than $25,000 a year after he has paid his taxes.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton, of the house committee on ways and means, put the case mildly when he said Tuesday that he had found no "feverish demand" among his committee colleagues for enactment of this provision. Almost any member of congress, talking behind the scenes, is sure to give specific instances to prove that a tax law to this effect could not be drafted without producing utterly incongruous results in its practical operation.

Congressional annoyance is increased by the conviction that the design of the President's suggestion was "political," rather than "economic"; that it is another of those cute dodges that Mr. Roosevelt has been pulling out of his hat when election time is close ahead. In this instance, the congressman suspects his main purpose was to provide an offset, pleasing to organized labor, for his declaration that industrial wages must be stabilized during the war emergency. It is remembered that the first public suggestion of a $25,000 income ceiling came from President Thomas, of the U. A. W.-C. I. O.

CONGRESS' ANGLE But congressmen realize also that a vote on their part, which would seem to support the position that anybody should have an individual spending income of more than $25,000 during this war crisis, will be difficult to justify to the folks in the side streets and up and down the creeks and bayous of their home district.

Why is the President's proposal incongruous? Well, in the first place there is a great difference between "net income," as defined for tax purposes, and income free to be spent. Many people have obligations which they are legally bound to meet. Obvious examples of these obligations are insurance premiums and amortization payments on the purchase of property.

METHOD OF SAVING The sole method of saving for the future of their families, by many well-to-do persons, is insurance policies, supported from their current income. Annual payments on some of these are in excess of $25,000 a year and there are many which call for payments as high as $10,000 to $15,000 a year. These payments are not deductible before calculation of income taxes. Under the President's proposal a man with $25,000 annual insurance premium either would be deprived of all his income or have his savings of a lifetime wiped out.

One attorney, who makes out tax returns for many wealthy people, pointed out that the very rich are less likely to have fixed contractual obligations than persons with less large earned income. "Take Dr. 'X'," he said. "He's right now at the peak of his earning power. He is making $75,000 a year. But he has just bought himself a fine new home, on which he has contracted to make large annual payments, and he is heavily insured. Even now Dr. 'X' is paying upwards of $35,000 a year income tax and he has to scrimp to meet his contractual obligation from the $40,000 remaining. If he was suddenly reduced to $25,000 he would have very little, if any, money left for living expenses. Innumerable instances could be cited along the same line.

"If a way could be found to reduce every person to a maximum of $25,000 per year free spending money, it might be all right. But that isn't the way the President's proposition would work."

CHARITIES TO BENEFIT One beneficiary of the President's proposal would be the charitable organizations, which depend on voluntary contributions for their support. Under the existing law, a taxpayer is permitted to deduct contributions up to 15 per cent of his income. If taxpayers were limited to a flat $25,000, they would be likely to be very willing to pay the excess, to the extent that the law allowed, rather than to charities.

A notable effect of the President's proposal has been to bring to light just how few big income earners there are in the United States and how little the incomes of these would contribute to the colossal war expenditures, even if their last dollar was taken.

The Treasury's latest statistics of income are for 1939. For that year only 45,754 persons reported net income of $25,000 a year and upward. In order to have $25,000 left after paying taxes, which the President would allow, a person would have to have at least $40,000, because the present federal tax alone on this income is approximately $15,000.

NOT SO MANY Of persons reporting net income of as much as $40,000 in 1939, there were only 20,518. This group reported total net income of $1,501,025,000, of which they are paying well over half in federal income tax at present rates. If these taxpayers were allowed $25,000 tax free income apiece, their total income would be $1,501,025,000. Subtracting the $1,062,500,000 they would pay in taxes, leaves $438,525,000 for the government under the President's plan, compared with $750,000,000 these same taxpayers are now putting up. Even the tax gain of $238,000,000 thus calculated would be reduced to the extent that the return was decreased by deduction of state and local taxes.

If the government took every penny of income from persons receiving $40,000 a year or more, leaving them nothing—the added government revenue at most would be $750,000,000. This is exactly one per cent of the $75,000,000,000 American war cost which Chairman Donald M. Nelson, of the War Production Board, has estimated for the fiscal year beginning next July.

Clearly this war is not going to be paid for by soaking the rich; nor can the spending or nonspending of this group materially affect the inflationary situation.

"How Can You Help Win This War?"

That is the heading over an advertisement which appeared recently under the aegis of The Council for Democracy.

The advertisement was written by a man who asked that he remain anonymous. He paid for the space in an occupied newspaper. Publishers of the paper stated they had looked up the man's record, found him to be "a hard-working man who deeply appreciated the liberty which so many Americans take for granted and which is possible in our free grave danger."

Reproduction of the advertisement is asked. Everyone who reads is requested to tear out the paper, to keep it in the old pocket and show it to friends. If anyone can reproduce it they are asked to—"you don't have to have consent of the writer or ours."

So, the column this morning is given over to reproduction of said advertisement.

The Thinking.

I am a plain, private individual. I've spent many years abroad. I know what totalitarianism means.

In America, an individual still counts. And there are more than 130,000,000 of us. As a member of this multitude, what can I do—what can any one of us do—to help beat the Axis and all it stands for—help America and her Allies win this terrible war?

The Writing.

I took a pencil and put down on paper all the questions I could think of which one of those questions honestly and sincerely. If you like, write a few more questions of your own devising, only be sure they drive as directly at the heart of the problem as do the above ten.

Answer them. And if you are forced to answer "no" to anyone of them, correct your own actions until you can give an emphatic "yes" to them.

Only by such devotion to duty,

FAIR ENOUGH

After The War

NEW YORK, May 1.—Some of our best minds have been toying with a great brotherhood of peoples under a rule of justice to be enforced, of course, by us and our partners in the role of military victors and I would like to throw in my opinion that they are either crazy or just being politicians. If our side wins the war, Russia will plan the peace of the European continent, and on the basis of all Russia's past performances we can confidently assume that in Germany it will be a peace not much different from that which Hitler has imposed on Poland. Russia will not be asking our advice or permission any more than she is consulting us now in the conduct of the war and our own people will pick up their marbles and come on home to be more nationalistic than ever, but very militaristic, too.

As a nation, we simply aren't inclined to world brotherhood. We are strictly loners as we demonstrated after the last war when we turned our backs on Europe and Woodrow Wilson. Notwithstanding whatever it was that Mrs. Roosevelt said about what the American fighting men did when the other war was over, it was the whole American people who renounced Europe. The American Legion had very little influence except in lobbying up pensions and the bonus and any people who riotous goings-on at the national conventions.

"The people were fed up on 'Europe's endless wars,' as the phrase went, but made the mistake of rejecting Wilson's alternative of rejecting Wilson's alternative, to wit: Set interest and profit for labor, in order to make their plan function and justify their bureaucracy. A 'selfless' industry system, they found, would stagnate. To succeed they were obliged to resort to the fundamental incentive of profit and individualistic self-interest."

Lenin would find many changes today. Time does things to all peoples and all governments.

Feel of 'Toughness'

In all this time our nationalism hasn't diminished a tenth of a degree, but we surely have discovered in the last couple of years that we can learn to shoot and march and fly as well as anyone else when we put our mind to it and I think we are going to enjoy the feel of being tough so much that we will keep in training indefinitely, with plenty of divisions, planes, ships and war industry.

Furthermore, we will have to keep tough because if our side wins that means Russia wins and then we will have no friends, no brothers or confidants, a mysterious, mighty giant who will be shoving Communism all over the place. If we can learn to be as single-minded and selfish as Russia is, our own national safety we will do very well and we certainly should try to learn to keep our secrets about inventions, methods, supplies, capacities and so forth because Russia and Germany did that while we were showing off our toys with the vain, silly pride of little kids.

One of our high aviation officers was saying recently that when those Russians flew over to drop in on us a few years ago and we showed them all our stuff, which wasn't much in bulk but rather special, one of the Russian officers said he just couldn't understand why we did this. He said he showed him things that he didn't even ask to see, whereas, in Russia, they never showed us anything and our people knew it would be useless to ask.

It Is No Plan

Russia, like Germany, has rubber boundaries which stretch and contract, and wherever they stretch to, there Communism is. I just don't believe our people ever will go for Communism or collaborate sincerely in a postwar world arrangement in which one of the dominant powers is Communism. Moreover, collaboration has got to be reciprocal and we won't be willing to go on furnishing all the reciprocity while Russia just grunts.

You may say this is a very sort of pessimistic writing and not an alternative plan. Of course, it is no plan, but no plan is at least as good as any plan which calls on us to share world responsibility with a nation which shares nothing but her troubles with anybody.

The situation permits of no planning. The immediate business is to lick Germany, which having been done, Japan will be a pushover. The future will have to be managed as it happens and the stronger we remain when the war is over the better we will manage it from the standpoint of the only country that should matter to Americans is the U. S. A.

"Suffer Little Children"

Like silver chiming their laughter rings On the scented air and to me brings New scenes of childhood's happy hour— Hours of innocence—chase as a flower, I pause and watch them at their play. And as I watch I gently pray, I find no matter how friendly they are, They love a world should be as free. —GEORGE H. HAYES.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From the news columns of Wednesday, May 2, 1917: "U. S. ready to send army to France. Troops to be put on the firing line soon as possible."

And Fifty Years Ago.

From the news columns of Monday, May 2, 1892: "On a horse an intoxicated policeman runs riot yesterday, starting hundreds of people and seriously injuring one."

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

WANT TO KNOW ABOUT RUSSIA In Washington Maxim Litvinov, Russian ambassador to this country, and the only diplomat who had clarity of vision during the appeasement years of 1925-37, said of a book: "It is the best and the most intelligent presentation of facts about Russia that has been written. It is surprisingly accurate and contains only a few minor errors which are understandable because only one or two people know them."

The man who wrote that book speaks in Atlanta Monday night at the auditorium. He is Joseph E. Davies, former United States ambassador to Russia.

His book is not a novel. It is a record of confidential dispatches to the State Department, official and personal correspondence, current diary and journal entries, including his notes up through October, 1941.

It begins with the Russian treason trials, those trials which seemed at the time so bizarre and impossible.

It extends into the Nazi-Russian war. The astute Sumner Welles, acting as secretary of state, read the book and urged its publication "in the public interest."

Usually we do not get confidential documents of the State Department until years after the events which they describe are old and half forgotten. More often than not, such documents are not published until after the death of those concerned. The man who represented this country through those amazing chapters of Russian and world history should make one of the most interesting speakers Atlanta has had at our old auditorium.

MOSCOW, MARCH 17, 1937 This is a chapter headed, "Communism Nature." It deals with the efforts of Lenin to make a classless society, and the efforts of human nature to prevent it. This chapter is a "strictly confidential" message on the indications of possible departure or modification of certain basic Communist principles.

Davies wrote that the government was, in fact, a bureaucracy. He wrote of the fact that special privileges, wage standards and class privileges already had come into the life of Russia. Government men, writers, artists, musicians all received class privileges.

In industry the government had adopted a standard of paying higher wages for better work and for greater work.

He noted the vast differences in dress, standards and habits between the different wage levels.

He concludes: "The significant thing to my mind about this situation is the fact that these theoretical Communists, when clothed with responsibility and faced with the necessity of maintaining themselves in power, were compelled to resort to the elements of human nature, to wit: Self-interest and profit for labor, in order to make their plan function and justify their bureaucracy. A 'selfless' industry system, they found, would stagnate. To succeed they were obliged to resort to the fundamental incentive of profit and individualistic self-interest."

Lenin would find many changes today. Time does things to all peoples and all governments.

"EVOLUTION" Ambassador Davies will tell of the many things he saw. Even before he went to Russia that state had changed its position with regard to parenthood, marriage, birth control and divorce.

The idea of world revolution, the basis of Lenin's theory, had been set aside by Stalin. It may have been a temporary setting aside, but it was done.

Davies writes—and will speak Monday—of the Russian trials. They were fantastic. There were blaring radio broadcasts. There were the amazing confessions of guilt.

There were executions, most of them following confessions. A hundred officers died or went to prison. That seemed murderous. And, in effect, was.

Yet, when the Germans came, there were no Columbus—fifth columnists in Russia.

There were no Coughlinites, no Silver Shirts, no Gerald Smiths, no "Mothers of America" to spread disunity and distrust. The Russians are your realists of the world.

They do not have time to bother with subversive persons. Not long, anyhow.

The purge was bloody. Yet when the Germans came the enemies of the state were permanently dead. That was a help. Ambassador Davies will be followed on Tuesday night by two notable speakers—James R. Young, who spent 13 years in Japan, and a few months in a Japanese jail; and Vincent Sheehan, war correspondent and author of several notable books.

Put down Monday and Tuesday nights as the nights to go to the auditorium. And Tuesday afternoon to hear Marjorie Rawlings at Rich's. Not in a long time has Atlanta had a chance at such a symposium on the war. And literature. Cheap, too. Costs very little. And all for the Red Cross.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Red-Headed Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

My Dear Louise: As a young newspaperman, flitting hither and yon to see a lot of country, I usually ranked as a stranger. In one town of rare hospitality, I had been on the job scarcely a week when I was invited to a party where the people sat around in couples or small groups and talked about their absent neighbors.

After an hour or so of this, a young lady complimented me because I alone had made no catny remarks. It was an undeserved tribute. I had kept silent only because I didn't know the people they were talking about.

One of the easiest habits to pick up from one's environment is that of discussing other people's faults—and I got it. Fortunately, I soon made a new friend, an older man born with the instincts of a gentleman, and became very fond of him. One evening when I had given him a juicy bit of scandal that would have made any gossip drool, he gave me a quick glance of cold distaste and immediately began to talk about something else.

I realized then, for the first time, that some people consider it bad taste and bad breeding to make conversation of other people's faults.

Unfortunately, such people are not common. In almost every gathering, high-brow or low-brow, the talk soon or late drifts into catny gossip.

I suppose the reason for it is vanity. Every catny remark implies a comparison. "How dreadful she is!" means: "How dreadful she is compared to me." We make ourselves big by making other people little.

The tattle-tale in school is prompted by envy and spite, and there is something of the same spirit in all criticism of the neighbors. Big-souled people, who feel inferior to nobody and see no reason to envy anybody, never indulge in catny criticism.

What about people who seem friends while together, yet say the most venomous things about one another when they are apart? Well, no matter how friendly they are, they are competitors in spirit and each resents the other's good fortune. It is envy, and spite born of envy, that poisons their tongues.

Don't be catny, my dear. It is always a confession.

Love, DAD.

U. S. Urges Schools To Stay Open

Elimination of Summer Close Recommended

Each System Asked To Canvass Its War-Aid Possibilities.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Year-around operation of America's 25,467 high schools—eliminating summer vacations—in a plan for full mobilization of education behind the war effort was urged today by the U. S. Office of Education's wartime commission. Among the courses proposed for the summer was "aviation education."

A wide range of activity was recommended for "all types" of schools, meaning that thousands of elementary schools might also remain open during the summer, along with high schools—not for instruction of pupils but to render special community services.

"To America's schools," the commission said, "this summer comes not as a time for vacation but as an opportunity for pointing up their services toward certain basic objectives highlighted by the war needs of the armed forces and of war production."

"Every school system should consider how its personnel, plant and equipment may be used during the coming summer to contribute to war services and to provide war service training courses."

Attendance at the summer schools would not be compulsory for the nation's 7,334,000 high school students, the U. S. Office of Education said, but any student wishing to attend probably would find an opportunity for improving his value in the war effort.

The commission's wartime advisory body comprised of representatives from 30 national education groups and headed by J. W. Studebaker, U. S. commissioner of education, asked that "each school system, whether or not it has been operating a summer school in the past, should study the possibilities of offering day and evening summer training courses" for students at high school and adult levels.

The summer courses recommended are those for which a definite demand is being made by officials directing the various phases of the war effort.

Spring 'Not as Before' Within Hitler's Reich

BERN, Switzerland, May 1.—(AP)—Discussing conditions in Germany, the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Tagblatt of Bern wrote today that "spring is not as before."

"Even my landlady who was always cheerful seems affected," he said. "She looks depressed, almost worried. Former enthusiasm for the war seems to have dropped to zero."

Then the correspondent related how the landlady had lost three of her sons, two in Crete and another near Sevastopol, while a fourth now is in the hospital.

Leahy Leaves Vichy Amid Sad Farewells

VICHY, France, May 1.—(AP)—U. S. Ambassador William D. Leahy's special train pulled out of the Vichy station at 10 o'clock tonight, watched by a silent and tearful crowd of diplomatic and Vichy government representatives, the small American colony and a number of plain French men and women who somehow had heard about the ambassador's departure for home.

On the same train was the body of Leahy's wife, who died three hours after the ambassador received orders to return to Washington for consultation.

Registration of Women Out for Time Being

Uncle Sam Has Too Many of His Nieces Looking for Employment.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—Uncle Sam has more nieces looking for work than there are war jobs for them at the moment, and for that reason, President Roosevelt disclosed today that the proposed voluntary registration of women this summer has been dropped.

Mrs. Roosevelt has advocated a nationwide registration, and Representative Baldwin, Republican, New York, has pending in the house a bill calling for such a registration to determine the country's woman power between the ages of 18 and 65.

Jap Drive Against U. S. Lines To Australia Is Believed Near

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)—The war in the Pacific apparently is approaching a period of intense naval and land action among the islands southwest of Hawaii, well-qualified authorities said today, with the security of the Allied supply route to Australia as the prize at stake.

A strong Japanese attack against one or more sections of the island chain guarding this extended lifeline probably is imminent, it was added, and the ensuing action, if it develops as experts expect, is almost certain to produce the greatest naval battles of the war to date.

At the same time, these experts said, it may very well give American forces holding scores of island bastions from Hawaii to New Zealand their first full-scale experience of the kind of amphibious warfare in which the Japanese proved so proficient in their China Sea campaign.

An attack on the United States-Australian supply line had long been regarded in informed quarters here as one of the two methods by which the enemy might try to eliminate the continent down under as an increasingly powerful Allied threat to his hold on the south China Sea.

The other method is an all-out attack on Australia itself. That apparently has passed from the realm of probabilities, at least for the present, since General Douglas MacArthur's air forces have blasted possible Jap invasion bases with devastating effect.

Actual developments of a Japanese strategy which was first clearly indicated this week when reports from Australia stated that a considerable force of ships and men was being concentrated in the mandated island area, where the enemy has been building up naval and air bases for several years.

This force was understood to be gathering in the Marshall Islands, center of which is Jaluit—2,066 miles from Pearl Harbor, 1,540 miles from Samoa and about 1,500 miles from New Caledonia. The actual direction of attack, therefore, might be against any one of three vital points guarding the route or possibly against all of them in a combined move.

In any such campaign the Japanese, despite their numerous losses in overrunning the Philippines, Hongkong, Malaya-Singapore and the Dutch Indies, would be able to bring up a tremendous force. Although about 220 Jap ships of all types have been sunk or damaged, their main fleet strength is believed hardly to have been touched.

British Scorn Hint of Truce In Air Assaults

Hundreds of RAF Planes Return To Action Across Channel.

LONDON, May 1.—(AP)—Hundreds of British planes swung across the channel at last tonight today in what coast observers called one of the war's greatest single thrusts against the Nazi-held continental coast.

Resumption of the massive British attacks followed a weather-enforced overnight break in the day-old, round-the-clock offensive and came on the heels of neutral dispatches from Germany which some London quarters interpreted as hints that the Nazis were more than willing to call off their aerial dog with Britain now, but which brought only an expression of scorn from an authoritative source here.

The grey cliffs of northern France were clearly visible to watchers on this side as the late day raiders, flying at altitudes between 20,000 and 30,000 feet, filled the sky between Calais and Dungeness, Kent.

Commenting on the reported Nazi willingness to call quits in the aerial war, one informant gave this British response:

"We are going after those blighters wherever they are and at every chance we get, and that is final."

He referred specifically to the Berlin dispatch to the Swiss Journal de Geneve as reprinted by the London Daily Mail. It said:

"It is semi-officially stated here that Germany will call off the bombing of England town the RAF will change its methods of bombing German cities. The present bombing duel is highly unpopular with the German people."

As to the so-called "guide book blitz" by the Nazis—that directed at the historic points of England—Home Secretary Herbert Morrison issued a challenge in the Shakespearean spirit of "lay on Macduff and damned be him that first cries, hold, enough."

The only way the German people could stop the British aerial offensive, Morrison went on, would be to overthrow their government and he added:

"If they won't do it, we will do it for them."

MINOR CUTS BURNS MOROINE

Russian Front Reported Topic Of Axis Talks

'Great Political and Military Events' Forecast This Summer.

BERN, Switzerland, May 1.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini were reported tonight to have dwelt in the main during two days of conference at Salzburg on measures for increasing the number of effective Axis troops in the Russian front and on rigid enforcement of home discipline both in Germany and Italy.

They also were believed by competent diplomatic analysts to have given up any hope of negotiating a peace this spring, after three weeks of unofficial overture.

Axis communiques today disclosed the bare facts of the discussion, but Axis commentators said, as usual, that it was a preface to "great political and military events" early this summer.

Japs 'In Closest Unity'

Contrary to expectations, the Japanese ambassador to Berlin, Lieutenant General Hiroshi Oshima, was not on hand.

The German radio broadcast tonight an interview in which Oshima said at Munich—only a short hop from Salzburg—that "Germany and Japan, although specially separated, are waging common war in the closest unity and for the same great aim; in the two spheres established by them they will be working and supplementing one another most happily."

This broadcast said Oshima was at Munich for the opening of the German-Japanese society and made no mention of any meeting with Hitler.

Another Meeting Expected.

It was believed, however, that Oshima might meet Hitler and Mussolini in the near future for a detailed discussion of Axis efforts. Foreign military observers here tonight thought this would involve an effort to get Japan into the war against Russia by summer.

Behind the familiar Axis communique curtain, decorated with such phrases as the one that "a perfect accord of views" had been reached at the meetings "on the further conduct of the war by the two nations in both political and military spheres," qualified observers saw evidence that the German conference, ranked as probably the most important that Hitler and Mussolini ever have had.

This, it was pointed out, is the first time they have come together after publicly alluding to the sharp need for greater discipline and morale on the home front.

Hitler, in his last speech, warned the German people he would enforce that discipline.

Party Officials Ousted.

Mussolini has removed a considerable number of party officials for failure to maintain wartime morale; tomorrow he will go before his council of ministers to report on the necessity for greatly increasing the war effort.

It has been rumored in Allied quarters that Italy is leaning toward the idea of a separate peace. If such an Italian, it is inconceivable that it could have been anything else but a feeler—with German cognizance.

There have been consistent reports of unofficial overtures toward peace. Talks were begun from the Axis side three weeks ago, and foreign diplomatic sources believed they were unsuccessful. Nevertheless, some informants here it that an influential group of Axis men still is sounding out the chances of British accepting a peace which would permit a more intense campaign against Russia.

Asphalt Supply Of City Cut Off By Priorities

Salvaging of Street Car Rails Here Is Suspended.

The city's ability to repair 450 miles of paved streets in Atlanta was imperiled yesterday when federal officials notified City Construction Chief Clarke Donaldson that priorities on asphalt will prevent delivery of normal supplies of 88,000 gallons a year in the future.

At the same time, Donaldson said the salvaging of 32 miles of abandoned streetcar rails inside the city limits will be suspended until WPB instructs the city and WPA what to do with the three or four miles already taken up.

The construction chief conferred briefly with Mayor Lyle after the asphalt supply had been cut off, but no decision was reached and the discussions will be continued today, he said.

Donaldson said the streets would deteriorate rapidly if they are not kept in a reasonable state of repair, but added "if it takes our asphalt to win the war, we will give it without a murmur of protest."

Ordinarily the city uses about 88,000 gallons of asphalt a year, processing the repair materials at its own plant.

Report Chutists Landed in U. S. Called False

Statement Made After Army Investigators Rumor.

FORT BRAGG, N. C., May 1.—(AP)—Brigadier General Preston A. Weathered, commander of the Second District of the Fourth Corps Area, said tonight that reports that three unidentified parachutists had landed near Bayboro, in Pamlico county, were false.

Earlier he had said that "specially assigned officers" were investigating such reports.

Soon after the report was heard in the vicinity of Bayboro, nearly 700 civilians, many armed with shotguns and law enforcement officers began a search of the surrounding territory.

EVANGELIST—Dr. S. F. Lowe, pastor of the Inman Park Baptist church, will conduct a series of evangelistic meetings at Virginia Avenue Baptist church beginning tomorrow.

Church To Hold Series of Services

A series of evangelistic services will be conducted at the Virginia Avenue Baptist church, Virginia Avenue and Ponce de Leon place, at 8 o'clock each morning and night beginning tomorrow and continuing through next Sunday.

The speaker will be Dr. S. F. Lowe, pastor of the Inman Park Baptist church, and chairman of the radio commission of the Southern Baptist Convention. O. R. Cooper, choir director of the Virginia Avenue Baptist church, will lead the singing.

Nazi Battleship

struction was not given. (At last accounts Germany had three battleships, two building and two pocket battleships.)

(There seemed a strong possibility of error in this claim, for there had never before been any indication that a German capital ship had been in Baltic waters.)

Soviet airmen and antiaircraft gunners on the Baltic fleet were credited with having downed 721 enemy planes.

Germans Taunted.

Red Star tauntingly recalled that in the past German spring drives already were under way by May 1 and pointed to the lack of grand-scale operations now.

It added that no doubt the Germans are intending an offensive sometime, but that so far as any spring thrust is concerned it is only a myth.

The most pronounced activity at the moment appeared to be on the central front, where the Soviet information bureau reported 300 Germans killed, two tanks destroyed and prisoners and trophies captured by Soviet units repelling enemy attacks.

In an order of the day for May Day Stalin reported Russian soldiers and sailors as the hope of all freedom-loving nations and as a force which is capable of saving the world from the Hitlerite plague.

Ambitions Disclosed.

Disclaiming any territorial ambitions, he said, "We have no such aims as the occupation of foreign countries, the subjugation of other peoples."

"Our claim is clear and noble," he added. "We want to liberate our brothers, the Ukrainians, Moldavians, White Russians, Lithuanians, Latvians, Estonians, Karelians, from the shame and humiliation inflicted upon them by the German fascist blackguards."

His words and the victory broadcasts from Moscow were heard by workers who remained at their benches in flag-festooned factories, sidetracking their usual May Day festivities.

Church Briefs

The Rev. Sibley Burnett, associate director of vacation Bible school work for the Sunday school board of the Southern Baptist Convention, will speak at Druid Hills Baptist church at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. The vacation Bible school of Druid Hills church will begin June 22 and continue through July 3.

The Riverside Church of God will celebrate its fourth anniversary tomorrow with special homecoming services. Under the leadership of the pastor, the Rev. G. Watson, the church has grown from the original 29 members to a present enrollment of 220.

Grace Methodist church will observe its yearly church school anniversary tomorrow morning. The Rev. Ben Smith, president of the American Bible Society, will speak. Various departments of the church will take part in the service.

The Rev. Paul S. James, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, will speak at both services tomorrow. At the 11 o'clock service tomorrow morning he will talk on "The Temple of God." "What Must God Do to You?" will be his topic for the 8 o'clock service tomorrow night.

The Rev. C. Walker Sessions, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Eufaula, Ala., will speak at 8 o'clock tomorrow night at the Rock Springs Presbyterian church.

Children's day will be observed at the Kriewood Presbyterian church at the morning worship tomorrow. Children will present a special program designed as a "children's broadcast to foreign countries."

Methodist pastors in the two Atlanta districts at 10:30 o'clock Monday morning will resume their weekly meetings in the Whitfield auditorium of Wesley Memorial church. During recent

To Ask Change In Selection of Poll Managers

Bill Would Bar Kin, Employees of Municipal Candidates.

Relatives and paid employees of candidates for municipal offices will be barred from serving as election managers if city council Monday approves a measure which Councilman Joe Allen yesterday said he will offer.

First attention to the fact that relatives of candidates have been named election managers was called by Ralph McGill, of The Constitution, in his column, "One Word More."

Regardless of whether or not Allen's proposal passes council, Mrs. Dewey L. Johnson, wife of one of the mayoralty candidates, and Mrs. Flora Bell Bryan, daughter of Alderman Frank H. Reynolds, another candidate, will offer their resignations at Monday's session. Mrs. Bryan sent her resignation to councilmen several days ago, she said. Both were elected two years ago.

Broadus E. Jones To Lead Revival

Broadus E. Jones, former pastor of Oakland City Baptist church, and now pastor of the First Baptist church, Norfolk, Va., will return to that church Monday night for a series of revival messages. The revival will officially begin at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The revival services will continue at 8 o'clock each morning and at 8 o'clock each night until May 17. There will be no Saturday services. Dr. E. E. Steele is pastor of this church.

Music for the revival will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Happy White.

History Study Club To Hold Tag Day

A tag day for the benefit of the Free Cancer Clinic operated by the Dominican Sisters will be conducted today by the History Study Club, which each year "adopts" a charity.

Officials of the club yesterday urged Atlantans to give generously to the clinic, pointing out its great work and its need of funds.

Officers of the History Study Club are: Mrs. W. F. Pope, president; Mrs. Swift Tyler, vice president; Mrs. S. P. Boughton, secretary; Mrs. T. E. Bunn Jr., treasurer; Joseph Smollen, welfare chairman; and Edward H. Glenn, publicity chairman.

Methodist Church Home-Coming

The Rev. J. Douglas Swagerty, pastor of the McKendree Methodist church, will be honored at special homecoming services at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in celebration of the 10th anniversary of the church.

All former and present members of the church are invited. Dinner will be served on the grounds.

Since the Rev. Swagerty assumed the pastorate of the church December 1, he has increased the membership by one-third and has added two new Sunday school classrooms to the church property. Tomorrow also will mark the beginning of a tent revival at this church.

Old-Fashioned Revival Services To Be Held

A series of old-fashioned revival services will be observed at the Avondale Baptist church beginning tomorrow morning and continuing at 7:45 o'clock each night through next Sunday. The Rev. J. A. Nolan, pastor, will speak.

The music will be under the direction of J. N. Reed, of the Deatur First Baptist church. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Seydel To Honor Visitors Here for Conclave

Among interesting social affairs planned for today is the al fresco party at which Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seydel will entertain from 5 to 7 o'clock at Shouting Oaks, their home on West Pace's Ferry road.

The guests will be limited to a group of the hosts out-of-town friends, who are here attending the American Cotton Association convention.

The party will be held in the beautiful gardens of Shouting Oaks, and a stringed orchestra will present a musical program during the afternoon.

Assisting the hosts in entertaining will be Mesdames Charles LeRoux, Dudley Glass, Edward Hitt, William Ellis, John Seydel, Augustus Alston and Raiford Gaffney.

For Miss Davis And Capt. Burke

The series of social affairs given in compliment to Miss Alice Davis and Captain James Burke, U. S. A., whose marriage takes place this evening, was climaxed last evening when Mr. and Mrs. John Shields and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Theisen, entertained at a buffet supper at their home on Inman circle.

The party assembled members of the couple's bridal party, as well as out-of-town guests here for the wedding and the immediate families. The buffet table was beautiful with pastel flowers. Earlier yesterday Miss Davis was honored at the luncheon given by Mrs. C. E. Heath, Mrs. R. C. DeSaussure and Mrs. John DeSaussure at the former's home on Nacoochee drive.

A silver bowl of pink ranunculus roses centered the table.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT A. BLACKWOOD.

Mr. and Mrs. Blackwood were photographed as they left the chapel of Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., following their recent marriage. Mrs. Blackwood is the former Miss Virginia Fielder Kirkland, lovely young daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Spencer Kirkland, of Atlanta. Following a brief honeymoon, the couple is residing in the Highland Lake apartments, Orlando, Fla. Both are students at Rollins College.

Miss Marion Rogers Weds Mr. Clary at St. Luke's Church

Miss Marion Seals Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rice Spinks, became the bride of Forrest Thurston Clary, grandson of Mrs. Della Watson, yesterday at St. Luke's Episcopal church.

Rev. J. Milton Richardson officiated at 6 o'clock and a musical program was presented by Miss Lucille Bush. The altar was banked with palms and ferns and tall, basket filled with calla lilies. On either side of the altar were candelabra holding burning tapers.

Ushers and groomsmen were Harvey Grubbs, John Watson, Robert Chambers, Harold Duncan, L. C. Duncan and Billy Watson.

Miss Martha Nalley, as maid of honor, was gowned in yellow marquisette made with a sweetheart neckline and long full sleeves. She wore a small bonnet to match, and her flowers were orchid stems tied with pink tulle. The bridesmaids were Misses Rose Mary

Long, Mimi Rivers and Cherie West, and they were gowned exactly like the maid of honor, and their flowers were similar.

The bride was given in marriage by her step-father, James Rice Spinks, and was a beautiful figure in her gown of white stain, fashioned along princess lines and with a sweetheart neckline. Her floor length veil was of tulle and was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls which belonged to the groom's mother, the late Mrs. Robbie Watson Clary. She carried a white satin prayer book showered with white orchids and swainsons.

Mrs. Spinks, the bride's mother, was gowned in rose crepe with matching hat and accessories, and her flowers were gardenias. Mrs. Watson, grandmother of the groom, wore black lace and a black hat. Her flowers were gardenias.

For Miss Throver And Lieut. Segner.

Concluding the social affairs which have been given in compliment to Miss Barbara Throver and Lieutenant John Segner prior to their wedding, which takes place today at Druid Hills Methodist church, the bride-elect's aunts, Mrs. Homer Starr and Mrs. I. A. Erwin were hosts last evening.

The affair, which preceded the Throver-Segner wedding rehearsal, was held at the Starr residence on Virginia avenue. In addition to members of the bridal party, Mrs. Dorothy Haywood Segner, of Chicago, Ill., the groom-elect's mother, attended the party.

Delicate pink snapdragons and gladioli arranged artistically in a silver epergne adorned the center of the buffet table, which was covered with a handmade white lace cloth. Silver candelabra which held lighted white tapers and silver compotes containing green and pink mints completed the table appointments.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Plan Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Luther Oliver will celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary at a buffet supper at which they will be hosts tomorrow evening at their home in Peachtree Hills. Mrs. Oliver is the former Miss Amogene Caldwell.

Guests will be those who served as wedding attendants for the hosts on May 1 five years ago, including: Rev. and Mrs. L. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Webb, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harris, of Covington; and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lawson, and Mr. and Mrs. John Merritt, of Covington.

May Day Banquet

A May Day banquet honoring parents and school principals will be given by Girl Reserves this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Y. W. C. A. Miss Jacqueline Odum, of North Fulton High, who is president of senior interclub council, will be toastmistress.

Invocation will be given by Mrs. Mary Kate Duskun, Y. W. C. A. general secretary. Mrs. Bolling Jones Jr., and other members of the Girl Reserve committee, will assist with decorations. Miss Besie Givens, departmental director, will supervise a pageant.

Mrs. William Pate, who is advisor for Decatur High school, will be soloist. The Y. W. C. A. technical movie, "Growing With Atlanta," will be shown.

This banquet, which is an annual spring event, will attract 200 guests. Reservations should be made through Girl Reserves in the various schools.

Miss Eleanor Clay Will Be Honored At Party Series

Lovely Miss Eleanor Clay continues to be complimented extensively prior to her marriage to Lawson Calhoun. The wedding will be brilliantly solemnized on May 30 at St. Mark Methodist church.

On May 25, Miss Mary Sutherland will entertain for Miss Clay at a luncheon. That afternoon Mrs. Clackson Cardwell, the groom-elect's sister, will be hostess at a tea for Miss Clay at her residence on Chatham road.

On the morning of May 29 Miss Ann Eagan will give a breakfast for Miss Clay and Mr. Calhoun at her Oakdale road residence. That evening following the wedding rehearsal the bridegroom-elect's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Witham and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Oglesby, will be hosts at a buffet supper at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Miss Tula Poulos To Marry Sunday

Of interest to their friends are the wedding plans of Miss Mary Tula Poulos and Leon C. Economy, whose engagement was recently announced. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Poulos.

The wedding takes place on Sunday at 5:30 o'clock in the Greek Orthodox church. The Rev. Panos Constantinides will officiate. The best man will be Steve Dounis, brother of the bride-elect, and the musical program will be presented by Mrs. Harry D. Fotou.

After the ceremony the bride-elect's parents will entertain at a reception at their home on Inverness road.

Miss Poulos and Mr. Economy have been honored at a number of parties. A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Miss Helen Economy with 50 friends of the bride-elect attending. The Biltmore hotel was the scene of a cocktail party given by a group of friends of the couple, and Miss Georgia Economy entertained recently at a party at her home.

Mrs. George Cotsakis on St. Charles place, last Thursday, Miss Poulos was honored at a tresseau-tea given by her mother.

The couple will reside in Atlanta. The bride-elect is employed by the C. I. T. Corporation of Atlanta and will be married with the American Bakery Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Pair Given Housewarming.

Mr. and Mrs. James Muland Paul who have moved from their old home at 433 Minnesota drive, Decatur, were honored guests at a surprise housewarming recently.

Other guests were their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Walker Durham; their sister, Mrs. Robert Petty; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bender, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McClung, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Raymond, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Dorn Morris.

MRS. GENE BERKEY.

Mrs. Gene Berkey Elected President of Pilot Club

Mrs. Gene C. Berkey was elected president of the Atlanta Pilot Club at the recent meeting held at the Ansley hotel. She succeeds Mrs. Readie P. Ashurst, who served capably during the current year.

Other officers elected were: Miss Fannie Hale, first vice president; Miss Myrtle L. Morton, treasurer; Miss Gladys M. Cory, third vice president; Mrs. Corry H. Neese, re-elected recording secretary; Mrs. Harriet S. Armstrong, corresponding secretary.

The civic committee purchased a defense war bond and members authorized donations to the Cancer Fund drive, the civilian pilot training group, and a membership in the Atlanta Better Films Committee.

The life and health committee announced that a nutrition class begins on May 11 at the Georgia Power Company, operating on Monday and Wednesday, and invited members to join.

Mrs. Ashurst, retiring president, requested committee chairmen to send their year's reports immediately to Mrs. Carolyn Murphy, editor of the Spy Glass, so that their reports of activities may appear in the next issue.

Mrs. Berkey became a member of the local club in 1936, and served as corresponding secretary, third, second and first vice presidents, and on important committees, making an especially fine record as life and health chairman last year. She is staff assistant of Red Cross at Lawson General hospital, a volunteer worker at the United Service Organization lounge at the Terminal station, a member of the West End Woman's Club, the Eta Pi chapter of the Delphian Society, the Atlanta Chapter No. 57, O. E. S., and has been prominently identified with activities of the Second-Pontine de Leon church. Mrs. Berkey is editor of the Georgia Pilot Wheel.

Installation of new officers takes place on May 12 at the Ansley hotel. Delegates representing the club at the annual convention of Pilot Club International in Columbus, Ohio on June 18, 19 and 20, are Mrs. Berkey, Mrs. Ashurst and Miss Hale. Alternates are Miss Kate Wheeler, Mrs. Carolyn Seivers and Miss Gladys Cory.

The life and health committee announced that a nutrition class begins on May 11 at the Georgia Power Company, operating on Monday and Wednesday, and invited members to join.

Mrs. Ashurst, retiring president, requested committee chairmen to send their year's reports immediately to Mrs. Carolyn Murphy, editor of the Spy Glass, so that their reports of activities may appear in the next issue.

Mrs. Berkey became a member of the local club in 1936, and served as corresponding secretary, third, second and first vice presidents, and on important committees, making an especially fine record as life and health chairman last year. She is staff assistant of Red Cross at Lawson General hospital, a volunteer worker at the United Service Organization lounge at the Terminal station, a member of the West End Woman's Club, the Eta Pi chapter of the Delphian Society, the Atlanta Chapter No. 57, O. E. S., and has been prominently identified with activities of the Second-Pontine de Leon church. Mrs. Berkey is editor of the Georgia Pilot Wheel.

Installation of new officers takes place on May 12 at the Ansley hotel. Delegates representing the club at the annual convention of Pilot Club International in Columbus, Ohio on June 18, 19 and 20, are Mrs. Berkey, Mrs. Ashurst and Miss Hale. Alternates are Miss Kate Wheeler, Mrs. Carolyn Seivers and Miss Gladys Cory.

The civic committee purchased a defense war bond and members authorized donations to the Cancer Fund drive, the civilian pilot training group, and a membership in the Atlanta Better Films Committee.

Trimness Counts With the Career Girl

By Ida Jean Kain.

Stoutness is no particular handicap in a man's career. It is apt to be viewed as a sign of prestige and proof that he is getting on in the world. But with a woman, it is just a sign she is getting on in years and is giving up hopes of romance.

Every girl who gets anywhere starts off with ability, some training, a trim figure, and the fresh good looks of youth. Even though hard work may count for most in the climb up, a girl's a fool to discount entirely her personal appearance. The woman who maintains a neat and tidy waistline and a superbly erect posture carries an air of alertness that is recognized and appreciated.

You may get by, but you won't get as far as you should without some regard for caloric control and calisthenics. Your diet should be the protective kind that makes for plenty of reserve energy along with slimmness. You have to eat and you might as well eat the right kind of foods. There's no law compelling you to exercise. But if you skip it altogether, you will gradually lose out in looks and efficiency. When your muscles get soft, your mind is apt to go stale.

To get exercise regularly, plan to take it either early in the morning before you dress or after 5 o'clock in the afternoon at some good gymnasium. Since you have very little time for exercise, your daily half-dozen should really do something for you. Here is an excellent foursome for waist, stomach, hips and shoulders.

1. To trim the waist, sit on floor with legs straight and wide apart, and stretch arms overhead with fingers interlaced and palms turned outward. Pull up with midriff muscles and, bending forward at waist, circle trunk down, around and up.

2. To flatten the stomach, get down on the floor on the knees, and fold the arms under the forehead. Weight should be resting on forearms and knees. Forcibly contract the abdominal muscles so that the lower back is rounded. Hold, relax. Repeat 10 counts.

3. To slim the hips, stand in a doorway with hand resting on door frame at side for support. Swing alternate legs from hips, knee straight, up in front and away up in back. Swing for 25 counts, rest, then swing other leg.

4. To straighten shoulders and also improve bust contour, stand erect with elbows bent and out at sides, fists clenched, chest level. Jerk elbows backward, 10 counts. Do this without letting head poke forward or abdominal wall sag.

Those four exercises will give you a good start toward getting into trim.

If you are overweight, follow a protective diet patterned after the following menu:

BREAKFAST—
Orange juice, 1/2 glass
Soft boiled egg
Toast, whole wheat, 1 slice
Butter, 1/2 pat, 1/4-inch thick
Coffee, clear

LUNCHEON—
"Tomato soup
Ham and cheese on rye
(mustard, no butter)
Pickles, celery

DINNER—
Mixed grill
Lamb chop
Crisp bacon
String beans
Carrots
Mashed toast, 2 pieces
Fresh fruit cup
Skim milk, 1 glass

Girl Is Unwise To Discuss Her Past Infatuations

By Dixie George

Dear Dixie: I used to live in another city and was engaged to a girl there. When I came here I met another girl whom I married. I have been very happy, for this girl is everything I ever dreamed of in a girl. Now the fly in the ointment is that this first girl has married and come here to live, too. My wife and I have been with this couple several times because there are a number of people here from our home town and naturally we get together. This first girl is forever telling her friends and my wife, too, of the good times we used to have and of certain little things which make it very embarrassing. I have noticed that my wife does not like it very much and although she does not say anything about it I can tell that this continues there might be a very unpleasant situation. What attitude do you think I should take toward this girl? She certainly has disgusted me.

HAPPY HUSBAND. The best thing to do would be to stop seeing this girl and her husband. As you say, things will continue and things will be said.

Secretaries to Hollywood Stars Are a Story in Themselves

By Harold Hetterman.

HOLLYWOOD, May 1.—First thing the movie actor does after attaining a definite box office rating is go shopping for a secretary. Being secretary to a movie star is a nice enough job—providing you're of easy disposition, laugh heartily at corny gags and can otherwise "take it" and bounce back with a smile.

The pay is away above that earned by the average stenographer or secretary in the workaday business world. You bask in glamorous atmosphere. You meet all the so-called important people. You listen in on the colony's choicest gossip. You even get a chance to swim in the boss' gilt-edged pool!

Secretaries to the stars are combinations of mother, nurse and lion-tamer. They come from all over—like the stars themselves.

William Powell's secretary calls him "Mr. Poo." He calls her "Miss Moo."

Bob Hope's secretary is a Mr. Barney Bean, an ex-vaudeville crooner. Mr. Bean has his name on a chair, like a director. When Bob pulls a gag, he looks at Mr. Bean. If Mr. B. doesn't like it, he holds his nose, or makes other obvious signs of anguish. Hope usually changes the line to suit the secretary.

George Tobias probably has one of the most faithful and efficient secretaries in all Hollywood. He is Harold Ramer, a former crack polo player. About two years ago, Ramer fell under his horse in a tragic accident and as a result lost both legs. He was close to despair when he met Tobias. "The Brooklyn Cowboy." Their interest in horses made them friends and Ramer came to visit George for a week-end. He has stayed for two years, learned typewriting and stenography and made himself invaluable to Tobias. George accepts few invitations unless he can bring his secretary-pal along in his wheel chair.

Bette Davis' reputation is so formidable that a lot of people are afraid of her. This annoys her, because she is one of the most approachable of persons. Even so, the quickest way to do business with Miss D. is to get in touch with Bridget Price. Mrs. Price knows everything and speaks with authority to Miss Davis.

George Raft's "Killer" Grey can hardly be considered in the secretarial class—but then, neither can most of the others. The "Killer" is a Broadway character, an ex-brother in a gymnasium. George used to patronize. He lives with George, helps him buy clothes, plays baseball with him, is the butt of his fond insults and is supposed to be his bodyguard. This is a joke. The "Killer" has been in one scrap in Hollywood. George had to come to his rescue. They're as close together as quotation marks.

According to a brisk survey of the spotlight stars and their girl or man Fridays, as the case may be, business colleges rank only third in providing jobs with stars. Stands-ins and hairdressers outrank the professional stenographers.

MISS MARJORIE LOUISE ADAMS.

Miss Adams' betrothal to Staff Sergeant Paul Foster Jr., of Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyoming, is announced today by her parents, Professor and Mrs. E. L. Adams, of Young Harris College. The bride-elect is a graduate of Young Harris College, where she belonged to the Susan B. Harris Society. Sergeant Foster, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Foster, of Hiawasee, attended Young Harris. The wedding will take place in the early summer.

Unpleasantness Has No Place at Meals

By Dr. William Brady.

If we did not know what peculiar notions about food prevail in the popular mind this problem, submitted by a reader, would merit only a brief answer.

My grandson, age 11, likes to eat some fat when he eats meat, such as steak or roast beef or chops, and he says he enjoys his meal better.

My son, his daddy, forbids this and says all the fat before he serves the boy his meat, and that starts trouble. The boy cries and gets all excited, and you know that is bad for digestion.

My son finally suggested writing to you to settle the question, as this goes on day after day in my home. My grandson also is pleased that I am writing you, and we will all abide by your decision.

(Mrs. L. G.) The boy should eat the fat along with the lean whenever he eats meat. His father is in error. I wonder how he acquired the notion that a child should not eat fat meat. Let him be a good sport now and join the boy in a toast to Gramma and Ol' Doc Brady, and no more arguments about eating fat and lean together.

Solding, taunting, emotional displays, heated arguments or quarrels at table put a handicap on the digestion of every one concerned. Unpleasant emotions such as anger and hate not only retard or delay digestion but stop it altogether for a while and in some instances even cause reverse peristalsis which means that intestinal or stomach contents are driven backward or upward, and this accounts for acid eructations or "waterbrash," furred tongue, bad taste in mouth and vomiting in some cases.

Not only should the food itself be as pleasing to appearance as possible, but the dishes and table cover and napkins or decorations should be attractive. Not only that, but the atmosphere of the table should be pleasant, not gloom, somber or quarrelsome. Good cheer aids digestion.

Children may be taught many things at table, but not discipline, punished, ridiculed or criticized. If the child must be disciplined, let the matter wait until after the meal, and then let parent or guardian and child do the necessary in private. It is highly thoughtless and discourteous to others at table to make them attend an unpleasant wrangle or argument or scene between child and parent or guardian.

Within reason children should eat what they like and never be compelled to eat what they dislike. I mean to say it is unwise to insist on a child eating spinach if the child doesn't like it—provided the child does eat some kind of green leafy vegetable or greens in salad, etc. If the child likes meat and refuses to eat eggs and cheese it is all right, and vice versa. If a child refuses to drink milk but takes butter and cheese freely, that is all right too.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Afraid of Face. My daughter does not eat, as she is afraid of her face; it is broken out. She is 16 and I had to take her out of school, as her face was so bad. (Mrs. K.)

Answer—She should have the benefit of the doctor's advice. If you can't get that for her, send stamped envelope bearing your address, for pamphlet "Blackheads and Pimples (Acne)." Or let your daughter write me in confidence about it. I had acne when I was her age, and I remember how miserable I felt—a girl must feel much worse.

Skin and Nails Poorly Nourished. Nails have become very brittle and thin and show streaks or unyielding ridges. . . . skin sensitive, tendency to become very dry and wrinkled. (P. S.)

Answer—Perhaps both nails and skin would be improved by supplementing diet with a good daily ration of vitamin D and vitamin P complex. Send 10 cents and stamped envelope bearing your address, for booklet "Cosmetic Blemishes."

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Astrologist.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES)—The entire day is not auspicious for new plans, for you have a tendency to underestimate values or people will not be clear in their dealing with you.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)—Previous to 11:30 p. m. offers particular opportunities for good results in affairs around domestic business and financial dealings. You can make the most of contracts, conferences, journeys and trading.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—Before 9:00 a. m. favors ideas that are slow and steady but the entire day is not auspicious for new changes and beginnings.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)—The entire day is only suited to unimportant affairs, although energy and vitality will be abundant. Because of feelings of intensity, which will not be well directed, you should guard against unexpected feelings or developments.

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO)—Don't try to mix business with pleasure before 5:30 p. m. Seek the company of those who are harmonious with you, otherwise you are apt to waste what is uplifting energy mentally or physically.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO)—Today will be a favorable day for availing yourself of all opportunities for expansion. Conferences and conferences, dealings with influential people, are likely to result in greater good than you had anticipated.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA)—Previous to 2:30 p. m. you can advance your status through intellectual, travel or communications. Attend to general business matters, but avoid over-activity. This is a favorable time for dealings that involve friends.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO)—While the morning hours before noon are filled with influences that produce irritation and a lack of poise, the afternoon hours and until 8:45 p. m. are most favorable for weekend plans and activities, social affairs, shopping, travel and financial matters.

November 22nd and December 21st (SAGITTARIUS)—You may have a let-down feeling and be inclined to moods before 11:30 a. m. This is not an auspicious time to attend to affairs pertaining to land, older matters, dealings with older and conservative people or undertaking new risks.

December 22nd and January 19th (CAPRICORN)—Previous to 1:30 p. m. the influences around which bring impatience, nervousness and an irritable feeling, therefore you may be lacking in your usual calmness and self-control.

January 20th and February 18th (AQUARIUS)—The keen interests and aliveness you feel today may give you a desire to lead on, or you will seek for some outlet for your energies and turn these energies towards matters already begun, rather than beginning new ideas.

February 19th and March 20th (PISCES)—During the entire day changes may appeal to you, or may be suggested to you, in such a way that you will feel they must be accomplished today.

Industry Plans To Employ Idle Gas Carriers At Blakely

Southeastern 'Pool' of Equipment Devised To Avert Shortage.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 1.—(P)—Representatives of the petroleum industry of the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida decided at a conference here today to organize an operating company to put to immediate use idle or partly idle motor tankers in an effort to avert threatened drastic curtailment of eastern war production. John L. Rogers Jr., a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission and director of the motor transport division of the Office of Defense Transportation, described the action as far-reaching and said it might be used as the pattern for a national plan to avert the problem of transportation.

By idle equipment, it was pointed out, was meant all tankers not busy for as much as 160 hours a week out of a possible 168 hours. Rogers said he thought the plan could be in operation "in a matter of days and by next week many motor tankers now idle or operating only on part time should be rolling over the highways of the eastern seaboard bearing petroleum to speed the nation's war effort."

The oil men pointed out that there was no lack of petroleum in the nation, but that the problem was transportation, particularly along the Atlantic coast.

U. S. Soldier Acquitted In Irish Driver's Death

WITH THE U. S. ARMY IN NORTHERN IRELAND, May 1.—(P)—A court-martial today acquitted Sergeant William V. Clapham, 26, of a manslaughter charge in the death of an Irish bus driver April 17.

Testimony was given that the driver, Albert Rodde, 30, drove into a column of military vehicles escorting high United States officials and raced with Clapham's armored car.

The defense said a machinegun, which it demonstrated to be defective, was discharged accidentally when the car was jarred in trying to keep Rodde's bus out of the convoy. Three bullets struck Rodde.

The civil government waived jurisdiction in the case.

SOLDIER-SLAYER HANGED.

OXFORD, England, May 1.—(P)—Harold Hill, 26-year-old soldier, was hanged at Oxford today for the murder of a British soldier, Joyce Hearn, 8, who was found strangled with a girl playmate.

Petain Issues Orders For 'New Labor Policy'

VICHY, May 1.—(P)—Marshal Petain, in a May Day speech directed to labor, announced today "we are preparing France's return to international peace; that is to say, to prosperity and freedom."

The chief of state issued three commands to guide the new labor policy of France.

He told employers to avoid "hypercritical domination" of their workers by setting up false social standards between classes.

To the workers he said "do not try to begin all over again the policy of classes" in industry.

He urged engineers and technicians to devote their best "intelligence, science and organizing abilities" to the reorganization of French labor.

FOREIGN SERVICE BANNED.

CANBERRA, Australia, May 1.—(P)—The house of representatives today defeated, 31 to 27, a motion "we are prepared to permit the return to international peace; that is to say, to prosperity and freedom."

Minister John Curtin said the Australian imperial force eligible for service abroad was larger than ever before and that removal of the militia restriction was unnecessary.

NAZI AGENT HELD.

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 1.—(P)—Willy Spilich, a former officer of the German army, has been ordered expelled from Chile for having engaged in activities directed "against the national sovereignty," the ministry of interior announced last night. Police authorities reported Spilich at present was in custody at Punta Arenas, strategic Strait of Magellan port.

Utilities and an assortment of blue chips today led the stock market on another selective uptick.

Senior issues advanced as much as three points or so on small turnovers after an irregular opening in which fractional minor signs predominated. High marks were reduced in many instances at the close and many industrials and rails ended a shade under water.

Transfers totaled 300,680 shares compared with 278,620 Thursday. The Associated Press average was up .4 of a point at 33.1, its third successive day's recovery.

The war news still was a bearish factor and there were enough

doubters of the workability of the price-freezing program to restrain buying in several departments.

Loans of the utilities topped other issues in the bond division.

Big up in the war were American Gas, American Light & Traction,

Columbia Oil & Gas, Gulf Oil, Northern States Power "A" and

N. J. Zinc.

Derby Today Expected To Be Wide Open Race

All in the Game
By JACK TROY

Unusual Poll In the last few years the press of the country has been flooded with Derby communications from Frank G. Menke. The results have been highly satisfactory in terms of increased attendance, which means more gold in the coffers at the historic Downs in Louisville.

For years and years the Derby folks made little effort to publicize the event, other than the normal amount of writing that turf specialists turned out. But Colonel Matt Winn either realized the value of advertising or else he was sold on the idea by Menke. At any rate, it has paid dividends.

Annually Menke asks the nation's sports editors to engage in a guessing contest. That is, pick the Derby winners. One year, out of several hundred guesses, only ONE writer had Lawrin to win.

Winter-book favorite, Alsab, carries the big vote this time. Two hundred six writers have picked Mr. Al Sabath's $700 bargain to wear the necklace of roses. Requested was second choice with 131 votes, with Bless Me, already out of the race, favored by 64 scribblers. Sun Again was given the nod by 38, while present favorite, Devil Diver, was liked by 23. With Regards was accorded 15 votes and Apache 12.

A lot of things have changed since the boys entered the guessing contest which carries $666 in bonds and stamps as prizes. Today really should be May Day. Because any one of six or seven horses MAY win.

Alsab no longer is a clear favorite. The race appears to be between Devil Diver, Sun Again and Requested. In the guessing contest, I picked Alsab, Requested, Apache and Sun Again. And there is just a bare possibility that I'm wrong again. Buck Linton says there's a sleeper named With Regards they'd better watch.

Hill Is Star Chief Petty Officer Thad Holt, one of our fine boys in the service, is back after six weeks of training in the Naval Recruiting Service at San Diego.

Thad, an impressive figure in his uniform—and proud to be doing his bit—reported that Johnny Hill, of Douglasville, is considered the greatest fielding third baseman on the Pacific coast.

Johnny's playing with San Diego, along with Stan Sperry and Boots Poffenberger, the former bad boy of the Southern League.

Thad recalled a humorous story on Boots. They met near Poffenberger's hotel one night, around 9 o'clock, and Poffenberger soon said, "Excuse me, I must go on up and go to bed; I may have to pitch tomorrow."

"An hour later," Holt declared, "I saw him in another section all beered up. And a few days later he told me he was a little fed-up with the way things are going."

Holt encountered many former Southern leaguers. Frank Brazill's managing at Seattle—and they all declared that Southern League baseball is faster than the Class AA coast game.

All of them paid tribute to Paul Richards' smartness as a manager, too.

Luck was good to Thad in respect to his appointment to the Atlanta district. He traveled to far-off San Diego for study and now is stationed just a block away from where he worked with us.

'General' Dies Old Jack Blackburn, who has been given credit for making one of the great fighters of all time out of Joe Louis, the shuffling Negro from the cotton fields of Alabama, has been laid to rest, and already there's speculation as to how his passing will affect the career of Philip Louis.

In actuality, it shouldn't mean a thing as far as winning or losing is concerned. Blackburn's work was well done. Louis had him when having him was vital. Today Louis has none more formidable than Billy Conn and Bob Pastor to meet. He has fought each before and knows what he has to do. Blackburn wasn't in his corner for the last fight with Abe Simon.

Blackburn seemed to be best as a ring general for Louis when the latter was puzzled or confused by the style of some unorthodox opponent. Always Louis belted them out in short order the second time. Maybe Louis figured it out for himself, but Blackburn got the credit.

Together they formed a boxing team that boosted prestige of the Negro race.

Field of 17 Set For Running Of Rich Classic

Requested, Devil Diver Favorites in Mediocre Field.

By SID FEDER. LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1.—(AP) The last piece in the jigsaw puzzle that passes as the 68th Kentucky Derby will be fitted into place tomorrow, and 17 three-year-old thoroughbreds will try for the $65,225 that goes to the one who can do it.

Through the entry box today, 16 colts and one gelding, headed by little Requested from deep in the heart of Texas, and Devil Diver, the "big boss" from the east, accepted the challenge to do the job in this widest open Derby in history.

Three are still on the "uncertain starter" list. However, the best information tonight was that in spite of scratches, at least 15 and maybe all would be in that traditional parade along about 5:30 p. m. (central war time) when the hush falls over the assembled thousands and "My Old Kentucky Home" drifts softly over picture-tresque Churchill Downs.

RICHEST DERBY. It's the richest Derby in all the 67 years this mile and a quarter classic has drawn the attention of a nation each first Saturday in May. And, at the same time, it has never been more confusing and daffy in the developments that have gone to make it the widest open waltz in the entire list.

So quickly and often has the scene been shifting and so inconsistent have been the performances of the leading candidates for the jackpot that any one of a dozen of the horses were given a chance of spots to turn the trick. And they'll all probably get more than a little betting support from the crowd, variously estimated at anywhere from 60,000 to 100,000.

The sixty-four dollar question is just which of the entrants can go the Derby's tough mile and a quarter—which will have the stuff to run the first mile and still have stamina to carry 126 pounds down "Heartbreak lane," the longest stretch in America. Only "The Diver," who has had two impressive workouts over the route, and Requested, who won the Flamingo stakes at a mile-and-a-half and the Wood Memorial at a mile-and-sixteenth since turning three, have given any kind of proof at all that they can.

ABOUT ALSAB. Back of the general wonder over route-going ability, is a second big question on the Derby quiz program—what about Alsab? The great 1941 juvenile champion, picked up in the yearling sales ring for a mere $700 by Al Sabath, a Chicago lawyer, won 15 races as a two-year-old, ten of them in row, and earned a gaudy $100,000. But he just didn't grow up over the winter and now has dropped seven straight as a three-year-old. Still, many look on him as a right nice thing in this horse race, despite his fading third-place finish in Tuesday's Derby trial run.

They represent colors from nearly every section of the country, these 16 colts and gelding, from New York to Wyoming, Colorado and California, from Michigan to Texas. The Lone Star delegation generally is regarded as holding the big hand. In addition to Requested, there also is the one-two punch from Emerson F. Woodward's Valdina farm at Uvalde. These are Valdina Orphan, who beat out Warren Wright's Sun Again in the trial, and Hollywood, a dark Irish invader, only imported entry in the field. He was brought over by the Texas cattleman for $12,000.

Fracture of Rib Benches Muncief

BOSTON, May 1.—(AP)—Bob Muncief, St. Louis Browns pitcher, was sent home today for treatment of a fractured rib. He had been scheduled to pitch today's series opener against the Boston Red Sox when the nature of his injury was discovered. Muncief was hurt in a collision with Roger (Doc) Cramer during a recent series with the Detroit Tigers.

STILL LIKED—Despite the fact he hasn't shown much winning form this season, Alsab is still one of the favorites in the Kentucky Derby today. He is shown during a recent workout with an exercise boy up.

Dan Yates Wins Medal In Dogwood Tourney

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY. Danny Yates sailed over Druid Hills' hard fairways yesterday to a three-under par 69 to win the medal and take a stroke lead in the second annual 72-hole Dogwood tournament.

Savannah Wins Rifle Tourney

Savannah High, with a score of 1055, captured first place in the G. I. A. A. rifle shoot which was concluded yesterday morning at the Atlanta Rifle Club range. Tech High, firing Tuesday night, scored a total of 1022 for second-place honors.

Boys' High, Richmond Academy, of Augusta; G. M. A. Lanier, of Macon, and Marist finished in that order.

Homer Peoples, with scores of 97 prone, 99 kneeling and 78 off-hand, had a total of 274, high for individuals. The other scores of the championship team were Sidney Boone, 264; Wilmer Stewart, 261, and Otis Stubbs, 256.

Members of the Tech High team and their scores: Clarence Johnson, 270; Earl Lucas, 265; Arthur Kiser, 244, and William Shores, 243.

Coach Rufus Godwin, of Cornme-Rufus, who managed the tournament, stated that this was the first high school rifle tournament ever held in the United States.

Daredevils Set For Thrillers

Holding a "winning hand" against Lady Luck for the moment, Harry Daniels will risk his neck in the most daring mid-air automobile crash ever attempted Sunday afternoon during the Lucky Teter Hell Driver stunts at Lakewood Park.

It will be the farewell appearance of Lucky and his daredevils in Atlanta, and might be their last show here for the duration of the war.

Purples Win GIAA Track, Swim Meets

By BERT PRATHER.

Boys' High annexed the 1942 G. I. A. A. track and field title last night at Grant field by squeezing by Lanier High, of Macon, 53 1-2 to 53, with a clean-cut triumph over the Macon entry in the final 880-yard relay. Tech High placed third with 14 1-2 points, Richmond Academy scrambled into fourth with 14, while Marist, Riverdale, G. M. A. and Columbus trailed in order.

The Purples also swept to victory in the swimming meet, edging Savannah High, 53 to 49. The two teams duplicated their performance of last year when the Purples bested Savannah after a hard-fought meet. Riverside Military Academy, of Gainesville, fabled off third honors with 18 points. G. M. A. finished fourth with 13 and Tech trailed in fifth position with 11.

Leading the swimming triumph was Bill Coons, Purple star, who cracked the G. I. A. A. 100-yard breast stroke record in 1:11.8. This also broke the Georgia Tech pool record by one-tenth of a second. The only other record was accounted for by Captain George Hiles. He swam the 220-yard free-stroke in 2:34.1. Seven-tenths better than the old mark.

Record Crop Of Tung Oil Seen in South

1942 Production Expected To Be From 8 to 10 Million Pounds.

MOBILE, Ala., May 1.—(P)—Record-breaking production of tung oil this year was predicted today by Dr. C. C. Concannon, chief of the Commerce Department's chemical staff, as members of the American Tung Oil Association opened their annual convention here.

Dr. Concannon, acclaimed the founder of the tung oil industry in the United States, told delegates that he expects to see 10,000 more farmers in the Gulf coast area put in tung groves of at least a few acres each. He described the vital importance of this oriental oil in the war program, growing out of its use in high-grade varnishes required by the Navy and in electrical installations.

"The important place occupied by tung oil," the chemistry chief said, "is indicated by the fact that it was placed by presidential order under complete control and allocation as a critical and strategic material."

Dr. Concannon, should run between eight and ten million pounds as against approximately five million pounds last year.

Growers no longer need worry about crushing facilities," he added, "for there are now 10 or more mills available throughout the tung area, vigorously bidding for whatever fruit may be available."

Planters, millers and government specialists from all sections of the tung area, which runs from Texas along the Gulf coast through Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and north Florida, are attending the sessions.

Tung tree groves are growing in several southwest Georgia counties, the industry centering around Cairo, Ga., where there is a tung nut crushing plant. A tung tree nursery is also located at Cairo, founded by the late J. B. Wright, pioneer tung tree grower of the Cairo section.

Mayor C. A. Baumhauer welcomed delegates and B. A. Steinhagen, planter and miller from Beaumont, Texas, responded. C. R. Baldwin, of Fairhope, Ala., will give the president's address, and E. C. Gay, of Gulfport, Miss., will present his report as secretary-treasurer.

Other speakers on today's program included Dr. M. Borsodi, Department of Agriculture specialist from Gainesville, Fla.; Ralph H. Sharpe, of Cairo, Ga., and Samuel Merrill, of Bogalusa, La., Department of Agriculture specialists. Dr. J. C. Robert, superintendent of the South Mississippi Branch Experiment Station at Poplarville; W. Wilson Kilby and G. F. Potter, Department of Agriculture experts at Bogalusa, La.; S. R. Greet, of the Poplarville, Miss., experiment station, and Roy Moffitt, of Pass Christian, Miss., a grower.

The convention will continue through Saturday morning, with election of new officers scheduled before adjournment.

The Business Opportunity column in the Want Ads of The Constitution furnishes a fertile field for small investment and profitable effort.

Swedish Ship Ban on Sunday Arrives With U. S. Refugees By McDonald

Sanctioned Trip Un-eventful as Searchlights Reveal 18 Flags.

JERSEY CITY, May 1.—(P)—The Swedish-American passenger vessel Drottningholm, which has been designated for use in the exchange of Axis and American diplomats, docked here tonight with 154 passengers, including 114 Americans.

None of the passengers aboard the vessel on the current trip were statesmen. The first to be carried to leave here for Lisbon on the return voyage.

The Drottningholm is one of the first passenger ships from Scandinavia to arrive here since the war made Atlantic crossings perilous. The voyage had been approved in advance by German, Italian and British officials and the vessel was painted a brilliant white, her sides decorated with 18 Swedish flags to assure her neutrality.

Officers aboard the vessel reported that the 12-day crossing was without event. Weather was good, they said, and at night the ship traveled with 40 searchlights playing on the flags painted on her sides.

Officers aboard the ship disclosed that, as part of the contract in the exchange of diplomats, the Swedish tanker Catella will accompany the vessel on the return trip loaded with oil to compensate the Swedish government for the fuel used in the current crossing.

CANTEENS DOWN UNDER. ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 1.—(P)—Every United States Army camp in Australia will soon have its own canteen, controlled by an American staff, authorities said today. The United States service men now patronize Australian canteens, where favored supplies such as coffee, doughnuts and American cigarettes are rarely available.

GM To Halt Output of All Service Parts

Firm To Wait Clarifying of WPB Order, Officer Says.

DETROIT, May 1.—(P)—C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, tonight announced the corporation would suspend the manufacture of automotive service parts of all kinds indefinitely until a punitive order against G. M. by the War Production Board "can be properly clarified."

Wilson's statement was the first for the corporation since the WPB last night ordered G. M. to stop making auto parts for 90 days because of alleged violation of an order to conserve critical materials.

Wilson said the WPB order, brought "on account of minor technical violations of certain material orders in one plant," brings to a head the "difficulty of operating the corporation's many plants under the impractical, confusing and contradictory material orders of various sections of the War Production Board."

The Terntest manufacturing division of General Motors used considerable quantities of scarce chrome steel and aluminum in the manufacture of "bright work," decorative moldings, radiator grilles and other body hardware for automobiles, in direct violation of regulations.

"The corporation's only purpose in producing service material during the past nine months has been to make available such material to its car owners and to keep as many of its employees working as possible pending the complete retooling of its plants for war production," Wilson said.

Wilson said that due to G. M.'s rapid progress in war production, any employees laid off because of this curtailment would be re-employed shortly.

Small Ship Sunk 5 Minutes Off Coast

LEWES, Del., May 1.—(P)—Blasted by a single submarine torpedo, a small freighter sank within five minutes off the Atlantic coast Tuesday and apparently carried six men to their deaths, the fourth naval district announced today.

Thirty-seven of the crew of 43, including the master, were rescued by a navy craft after drifting two hours in a lifeboat. The survivors were landed here, four suffering minor injuries.

Some of the missing were believed carried under by suction, the navy said. Others were "killed before" when the torpedo crashed into the starboard side.

"I called to the men to jump," the ship's chief officer said. "At that time they were afraid to. But when they saw we were going down they leaped just in time."

The Navy said the ship was four hours out of an Atlantic coast port.

May Day Pageant To Be Held Today

A military escort and a naval guard of honor will add emphasis to the patriotic theme in Agnes Scott's colorful May Day pageant this afternoon.

The pageant will be held at the outdoor theater at 5 o'clock to watch the traditional spring celebration. Anne Chambliss is May Queen.

Atlanta girls included in the dancing cast of almost a hundred today for the play day-May day festivities at the Georgia State Woman's College tomorrow. Virginia Power, of Vienna, is queen of the May court, and Nancy Cole, of Savannah, is maid of honor.

The queen's court will be composed of Edna Allen, of Lenox; Marie Ambros and Mildred Malloy, of Savannah; Rachael Crittendon, of Shillman; Maxwell Williams, of Cordele; Dorothy Wilkes, of Adel; Betty Franklin, Lecky Anne Henry, Minnie Roberts, Mary Jean Rockwell, Julius Bess Smith and Mary Alice Wisenbaker.

Racial Discrimination Hit by Congress Party

ALLAHABAD, India, May 1.—(P)—The committee of the All-India Congress party adopted a resolution today condemning the arrangements of the British authorities for evacuation of Indian refugees from Burma and previously from Malaya and demanding that there be no racial discrimination.

Indians have charged that British have been given the facilities in the exodus from territory overrun by the Japanese and that Indians have been barred from certain routes allotted to Europeans.

The resolution urged that speedy arrangements be made for removal of Indians still in Burma trying to get home.

USE OF JUTE CURBED.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(P)—The government today banned the use of jute in the manufacture of rugs, carpets and linoleum for civilian use.

Milk Is Definitely To Go Down Cent

Charles G. Duncan, director of the State Milk Control Board, confirmed yesterday that the retail price of milk would drop a cent a quart in Atlanta and Savannah May 18.

This is the date upon which the federal order freezing retail prices at March levels becomes effective.

The new prices will be 16 cents a quart delivered in Atlanta and 15 cents a quart at stores. In Savannah the home-delivered and store price will be 17 cents.

Giraud's Helpers Reported Executed

MOSCOW, Saturday, May 2.—(P)—Thirty French officers have been executed in Germany as suspected accomplices in the escape of General Henri Giraud from the German prison at Koestel.

The Moscow radio, broadcasting the report, said that a special Nazi commission headed by Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler arrived in Koestel to inquire into the circumstances of General Giraud's escape.

(Giraud has been reported in Vichy since his escape via Switzerland, but Vichy officials have refused to confirm or deny his presence there.)

Trained Dog Act Is Stage Feature

"Boots," trained Hollywood dog star of "The Silver Stallion" and "Emergency Squad," will be featured on the stage of the Grove theater today and tomorrow along with her pal, "Saddle."

State Autoists Will Register May 12, 13, 14

508,000 To Be Issued Ration Cards for Gasoline.

More than 508,000 Georgians will register to obtain gasoline rationing cards May 12, 13 and 14, Oscar Strauss, regional OPA director, announced yesterday.

Curtailed rationing of gasoline will be based strictly on the actual needs of each individual motorist, Strauss warned, adding, however, that special consideration will be given extreme cases.

The registration will be handled at schools and other public buildings throughout the state in much the same way as the sugar registration.

Cards similar to meat tickets will be given to each car owner. Included will be seven squares, each entitling the owner to a specified amount of gasoline, yet to be announced.

Motorists will be divided into five classifications, making it possible for commercial users; two, for workers and others whose vocations require mileage greater than provided by the basic allowance, to get their necessary share.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Spring Hill with the Rev. H. C. Hale, pastor of the West End Church of Christ officiating. Burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Dr. W. B. Nethery, Chemist, Is Dead

Dr. W. B. Nethery, 69, chemist, died yesterday at the residence, 993 Washita avenue.

A native of Ontario, Canada, he was graduated from medical school in Toronto, but never practiced as a physician. He came to Atlanta about 30 years ago and operated several drug stores here before setting up a chemical laboratory at 1220 Peachtree street, which he operated until he died. He was a member of the Park Street Methodist church.

Surviving are his wife; three sisters, and a brother, of Ontario, Canada, where funeral services and burial will be held.

Benning Employees Get Overtime Pay

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. COLUMBUS, Ga., May 1.—Approximately 700 additional civilian employees at Fort Benning will be paid time and a half for overtime work dating from March 22 to April 1 and monthly thereafter the quartermaster's office said Thursday.

On April 8 it was announced that 1,200 employees in the utilities section and others in the Area Engineer division would receive time and a half for hours worked in excess of 40 hours per week. This policy has now been extended to several other divisions at the post.

Since all employees are expected to work a full six-day week, overtime hours will normally accrue to each civilian employee.
